Lengthy Delay Seen Ahead in Hot SUB Issue

Ohio Supreme Court Scheduled To Review 2 Controversial Cases

COLUMBUS (AP) — Months of delay appeared likely today before a final decision on the hot, recession-fueled issue of whether Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) and Ohio jobless compensation may be paid at the same time.

The Ohio Supreme Court has decided to give two SUB test cases a full review. That action possibly could postpone a decision until late in the fall.

The high court admitted two Mahoning County cases for review late Wednesday. If normal procedure is followed, opposing attorneys could demand and get as much as 90 days for filing briefs and other proceedings. Hearings would follow and the court might then deliberate several months before announcing its decision.

At its discretion, the Supreme Court could shorten the time permitted for filing briefs. But attorneys for intervening parties in the SUB cases have said they will demand the full time normally allotted.

JOHN HARDWICK is the assistant attorney general who argued the cases in Mahoning County courts in behalf of James R. Tichenor, administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation (BUC). Hardwick reported he will refile his original briefs with the Supreme Court in an effort to speed up the cases.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weyandt said that the court will not initiate any move to speed up the cases. It will be up to the attorneys involved, he added.

Common pleas and appellate courts in Mahoning County held in both cases that present state law permits an unemployed worker to receive simultaneous SUB and state jobless benefits.

Those decisions upset a ruling by Tichenor that SUB payments are remuneration under Ohio law and must be deducted from BUC benefits.

The two cases arose when the AFL-CIO Steelworkers Union challenged the ruling.

Young Killer Loses in Plea For His Life

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP) — The young killer's hands twitched. His smile flickered nervously. He was asking for his life, and he lost.

Barton Kay Kirkham, who had sneered at the idea of mercy, asked for it Wednesday. The Utah Pardons Board listened to his plea for life imprisonment and mental treatment and rejected it.

Saturday the 21-year-old slayer is to be hanged. He is the first condemned man in Utah in 46 years to choose hanging for his execution instead of the firing squad.

He said he did so because the state would bring more publicity and would cause the state more trouble.

For two years since he fatally shot a man in a grocery store holdup and fled with $50, Kirkham had assured fellow prisoners and anybody else who would listen, "I'm not afraid to die."

"I'm a loner," he told the board Wednesday.

Over and over, the board members asked him why he had killed, what he thought of dying, whether he felt remorse. Kirkham said: "No sir, no remorse or anything like that."

But then he launched into a disconnected, nervous plea for mercy. He said he'd rather die than spend his life in prison. But what he really wanted, he said, was confinement outside the prison for psychiatric treatment.

House Bill Calls For Bigger Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a rollcall vote of 224-158, the House today rejected President Eisenhower's plan to cut the Army's strength to 870,000 men during the next 12 months. It then passed a $38,409,561.00 defense appropriation bill.

The rollcall vote nailed into the measure an amendment to finance a 900,000-man Army during the year starting July 1 at an additional cost of $99 million.

Passage of the bill was by a 389-0 vote which sent it on to the Senate.

Today's vote on the issue of the Army's size upheld a tentative decision made Wednesday without a rollcall. This question was the only controversy in the bill.

29 Kent State Pupils Expelled

Raid on Girl's Dorms Brings Severe Action

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University President George Bowman said today 29 students are being dismissed from the school in the wake of an early morning raid on two women's dormitories.

Police Chief F. B. Grubb estimated 1,500 to 2,000 persons were involved in a wild, 1½-hour long demonstration that authorities were unable to break up.

Fourteen persons, including 10 students, are in Portage County Jail on this the last day of the school year at Kent State. None of those suspended or jailed was a senior. No charges were filed immediately.

Some 15 men managed to get into a women's dormitory, where they were pursued through the halls by police. Some of the 15, authorities said, apparently leaped through a screened window on the third floor in evading the law.

Those who jumped either fled or were helped away by comrades. Police Chief F. B. Grubb said tear gas was used in a futile attempt to break up the crowd at one of two women's dorms.

Authorities said they had been warned to expect some hi-jinks on the eve of the last school day, and the 15 were the only ones who gained entrance to a dormitory.

The demonstration, punctuated by exploding firecrackers and the ringing of bells, finally ran out of steam at about 1:30 a.m., Grubb said.

Aid for Boy Is Beset by Much Trouble

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Twelve-year-old Paul Ward swallowed rat poison found in a rubbish can behind his home Wednesday. Physicians needed a sample to prescribe an antidote.

Deputies picked up the can at the Ward home and started for the hospital.

Engine trouble stopped them. They radioed for help. Other deputies sped to the breakdown, too, the poison and sped on.

A block away they got a flat tire. Deputy John Mulso leaped from the car and ran the rest of the way.

Analysis enabled doctors to give Paul the proper treatment. Today, he is out of danger.

Ike Wants Iron Curtain Aid Money Set Up in New Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower wants authority to spend foreign aid money in Iron Curtain countries but wants it separate from the mutual security bill now under Senate debate, Republican congressional leaders said today.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, reported the President's stand after the weekly White House conference of key GOP members from the Capitol.

Knowland himself is opposing an amendment, offered by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) to put into the foreign aid bill a section allowing the President to spend money in satellite countries if he finds it would help or encourage them on a course independent of Moscow.

Knowland told a news conference that Eisenhower would support such a proposal if it came up as an amendment to the Battle Act. That law bans U.S. aid to Iron Curtain countries.

KNOWLAND HAS offered an amendment to strike the provision from the $3,712,000,000 foreign aid bill now before the Senate.

The provision would permit the President, if he deems it in the national interest, to provide financial and economic assistance to any country except the Soviet Union, Red China or Communist North Korea.

The bill survived its first test Wednesday night as the Senate rejected 56-16 an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis) to shift all military aid funds from the foreign aid bill to the regular Defense Department budget.

Proxmire argued that lumping military and economic aid together creates the impression that the foreign aid budget "is three times as large as it is."

9-Mile Hike 'Proves' She Can Do It

OMAHA (AP) — Would you take a nine-mile walk in humid 97-degree weather to prove to your husband you could do it?

Carole Moore, 21-year-old mother of two, did.

Carole, dressed in play shoes, shorts and a halter, called a baby sitter to mind her daughters, 2½ and 1½, then set out for the city airport.

"I wanted a sun tan. And I wanted to prove to Ray I could do it," she said.

She rested once along the way on a street bench. Then she rested again at the police station.

"Those policemen were so nice to me. One of them loaned me a dime so I could call Ray and tell him I was coming."

Next the long last mile. "She was fagged when she arrived," her husband, 24, said. "I gave her a root beer and took her home. She's always doing something screwy. Now she wants to ride in a jet."

"After a while you get used to it."

Tactical Use Of Big Thor Is Displayed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force has shown that its Thor intermediate range ballistic missile program is well on the way toward meeting its operational objective.

The huge IRBM took another big step Wednesday when it was fired from a tactical launching pad for the first time. The test appeared successful.

The pad, a simply constructed steel platform, was a prototype of the one to be used when the missile is deployed with troops later this year.

Thor squadrons are earmarked for assignment with the Royal Air Force in England by December. Air Force crews are undergoing training now.

Another operational vehicle, the transporter-erector, was used to replace the Thor for firing. A conventional 90-foot service tower housed the missile, however, prior to launching.

The Air Force says that when the Thor is operational it will be fired in 15 minutes.

The missile was designed for a range of 1,500 miles but it reportedly has gone 2,600 miles.

Warren County Flier Is Plane Crash Victim

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Two men were killed Wednesday when an Air Force T33 jet training plane crashed, exploded and burned 17 miles northwest of here.

The Air Force identified the two officers killed in the crash as 1st Lt. Paul M. Moore, 24, of Cozadale (Warren County), Ohio; and 1st Lt. Richard H. Boyce, 28, of Seattle.

Moore was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Moore, Cozadale. His wife, Dorothy, lives at Elmen-dorf Air Force Base here.

The crash occurred at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday. The plane was on a training mission.

Algerian Moslems Reject DeGaulle's Plan Making Them Equal Frenchmen

CONSTANTINE, Algeria (AP) — French Premier Charles de Gaulle flew to eastern Algeria today for another enthusiastic welcome. Elsewhere, spokesmen for the nationalist Moslem rebels rejected his program to make them first-class Frenchmen.

Many Moslems were among the thousands who lined De Gaulle's route from the airport into Constantine, the rebellion-backed eastern sector's chief city.

Nationalist sources in neighboring Tunisia said there will be no halting of the 3½-year-old rebellion.

In Cairo, spokesmen for the Algerian National Liberation Front (FLN) said they could not accept De Gaulle's program for integrating Algeria's European and Moslem populations with equal rights and equal votes. The FLN has spearheaded the revolt. It demands independence as the price of peace.

Constantine was the second stop on De Gaulle's three-day Algerian tour to establish his government's authority over insurgent French colonists and military leaders and to launch a new drive to end the 43-month-old nationalist rebellion.

The massed thousands in Constantine cheered as De Gaulle declared from a flag-decked balcony, "All men here have the same rights, the same duties." The brief address was essentially the same as the one he delivered to a cheering throng of about 100,000 in Algiers Wednesday.

De Gaulle spoke only in generalities that left Algerians in the dark on details of his plans for ending the rebellion. But there was no doubt the general captured and fired the imagination of Algiers residents more than anyone had done in a long time.

"I open the door to reconciliation," De Gaulle proclaimed in offering a program designed to win back rebels whom he praised as courageous. His program:

1. Within three months the nine million Arab and Berber Moslem Algerians and the 1½ million Algerians of French descent will join with 45 million residents of France in voting on the constitutional reforms he is pledged to draw up.

2. At some future date all Algerians will ballot on a single voting list for "representatives to the public administration."

"Ways must be opened which until now have been closed to many," he declared. "That means that the means of livelihood must be given to those who have not had it. That means that dignity must be granted to those whose dignity was contested. That means that the motherland must be assured to those who doubted they had one."

But there was no suggestion of an independent Algeria. "In all Algeria there is only one category of inhabitant," De Gaulle declared. "There are only Frenchmen of one sort."

With Moslems outnumbering the French settlers almost 9-1, Algerian voting has been heavily weighted to give the French the majority.

Rinaldo, however, was not dead. Wounded, he was shuttled from hospital to hospital. In 1946 he returned home to learn Alba had entered a convent.

Eventually he arranged to meet her in the presence of the mother superior of the convent. Alba decided to ask to be released from her vows.

Last November, came the word that Pope Pius XII had granted her the release. It was a long time to wait, but the church considers such dispensation a matter requiring the fullest study.

A month ago Alba and Rinaldo were married in the Falciano parish church. Early this week their story became known to Italian newspapers, and today church authorities at Falciano confirmed that the wedding had the blessing of the Holy See.

Observers Unable To Explain About California Poll Result

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — What happened in California's primary election Tuesday? Why the big Democratic splash?

Probably no one reason can explain. A number of factors appear to fit into the complex pattern of California politics that background the election figures.

Something similar happened in 1954. It didn't create the same stir, however, because a national figure like Sen. William F. Knowland wasn't involved. And the Democratic margin wasn't as great.

Four years ago, the California ballot began to identify candidates as either "Dem" or "Rep." For the first time, Democrats, who outregistered the Republicans 3-2, harvested their big vote and nominated a full slate for state offices.

BUT IN NOVEMBER, Californians returned to their old independent voting ways. They ignored party lines. Every Democrat running for statewide office was defeated except one. That was Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown.

Republicans think they can win again next November. But Democratic party leaders are openly talking about a landslide. They feel the voters are ready for a change.

There's no doubt the primary showed a definite party resurgence in California. One test is the huge vote rolled up by Brown, leading his ticket as the Democratic candidate for governor.

Republicans pointed out that Knowland devoted only 14 days in the state to his primary campaign. That was all he needed for the Republican nomination.

It's true. But Brown, who barnstormed for weeks, walked off with the high popular vote by more than 500,000.

Gov. Goodwin Knight campaigned strenuously in his Republican race for the U.S. Senate. But Knowland outdrew him. More important, so did the Democratic nominee, Rep. Clair Engle of Red Bluff.

dominant voice in the territorial government. De Gaulle apparently offered the Moslems a chance to submerge the French in a flood of votes, a prospect the militant colonists will oppose.

He gave no clue to the basis on which future Algerian representation in the National Assembly in Paris would be allotted. Few in Algiers believed it would be on the same population basis as for France, since that could send a massive bloc of 100 Moslem votes to the Assembly.

The general's speech also contained an implied offer of amnesty to the rebels who have tied down almost half a million French troops in the expensive, indecisive guerrilla war. He appealed for cooperation from "those who through despair have thought it right to carry out on this soil a fight—which I recognize myself as courageous, but which is nevertheless cruel and fratricidal."

come out of the Washington C. H. general fund. Monday for equipment and salary of a caretaker comes out of the park fund.

Recreation facilities at the park include two volleyball courts, a basketball court, two diamonds, the Model Airplane Club's flying circle, and horseshoe pits. The tennis courts and shuffleboard lanes are at Gardner Park. Domenico said shuffleboard lanes could be established at Community Park if there is a call for them.

"ENNIS instruction will be available by appointment at the courts in Gardner Park across town, under the auspices of the same program. Domenico said he kept an instructor at the courts last year, and that he was idle much of the time. As a consequence people who want instruction this year must request it from the officials at Community Park.

"We are fully able to give it this year as we were before, though," he emphasized.

A girls' softball tournament, like the one held a year ago, will be held again this year. There are hopes of staging a men's tournament as well.

THE SERIES of Friday night dances that were conducted last year will be resumed June 13, Domenico said. The dances were the largest adult participation phase of the program.

Besides Domenico and Merritt, the staff also will include several high school boys who will officiate various events. The high school boys are unpaid.

Fayette Chapter Installs Officers

Robert A. Seymour
Is New High Priest

A new high priest, committed to resume the conferring the degree of most excellent master, was sworn in by the Companions of the Fayette Chapter No. 103, Royal Arch Masons, at installation ceremonies in Masonic Temple here Wednesday night.

Robert A. Seymour, the new high priest, said he plans to resume conferring the degree in the fall. Discontinued here several years ago, the degree since has been conferred upon Fayette County Masons who wished to take it by lodges in other cities.

No candidates are presently slated for initiation into the most excellent masters' ranks, although there are several preparing to take masters' degree at the Chapter's next meeting on Sept. 3.

A FULL SLATE of new officers was sworn in at the Wednesday meeting by George Finley, past high priest. Besides Seymour, they include Frank Shasteen, king; John W. Craig, scribe; Richard P. Rankin, treasurer; M. K. Evans, secretary; Harry R. Allen captain of the host; Don E. Wood, principal squire; William B. Johnson, royal arch captain. Donald Dray, master of the third veil; Charles (Bud) Simpson, master of the second veil; Earl Shasteen, master of the first veil and Herman Gosney, guard.

John R. Lawson, outgoing high priest, who acted as marshal for the installation, thanked his own corps of officers and companions for their cooperation and assistance during the past year. He expressed particular gratitude for their work in winning for the Fayette Chapter the second consecutive annual award for outstanding achievement.

Refreshments were served by Earl Shasteen, Bud Simpson, Charles Ellis and Herman Gosney.

Maple Grove Bible School Opens Monday

The fourth annual Vacation Bible School of the Maple Grove Church on the White Rd. will open for one week next Monday, Mrs. Locie Eckle, the director, announced today.

It is for boys and girls from 4 to 14 years old and will have beginners, primary and junior classes.

The school will start each day at 9 a. m. and close at 11:30 a. m. Inasmuch as the children will come from over a wide area in that section, Mrs. Eckle said the parents usually formed car pools to bring them and take them back home.

Up until three years ago, Mrs. Eckle explained, the children from the Maple Grove community attended the Vacation Bible School at Good Hope.

At the close of the school this year, the pupils will present a program for the parents and friends on Sunday evening, June 15.

THEME of this year's school is: "We Worship the Lord."

The Rev. Harold Huges, pastor of the church, will open the school with a devotion period. Mrs. John Craig will be the pianist.

Refreshments will be served about mid-morning each day by a committee headed by Mrs. Clyde Carman.

Teacher for the beginners class will be Mrs. Lee Rowe; for the primary class, Mrs. George Geesling and for the two junior classes, Mrs. Ralph Garrison and Mrs. Thomas Craig.

Mrs. Eckle said the average attendance last year was 42 and added that the enrollment this year is expected to be as large or larger.

Blow Kills 30

hour, the twister caught many families unaware as their houses were flattened about them.

Communications and power lines were torn out and extent of the catastrophe was slow in becoming known. Officials used a makeshift network of police, sheriffs' and civil defense radios to marshal doctors and nurses at hospitals in the area.

They also summoned ambulances and made appeals for station wagons and covered trucks to carry the injured to hospitals.

The funnel tore into Wisconsin at Woodville, just east of the St. Croix River, and caused destruction in Ludington, in Eau Claire County 80 miles to the east. It covered parts of St. Croix, Dunn, Eau Claire and Chippewa counties.

WITH ELECTRICITY out, rescue parties used hand torches and headlights to probe the tangled wreckage for victims. Hospitals over the area were crammed with the injured, some reported critically hurt.

"We felt the suction," said Melvin Hendrickson, 58, of Colfax. "The wind was twisting things in the basement. Rain was pouring down on us. The only thing I saw was our heater standing in the middle of the basement. Everything else was whirling."

Hendrickson, his wife and three children sat huddled together tightly in the basement as the storm smashed their home.

"I looked up and the house wasn't there," he said. "Wood pieces were flying at us. Then the twister was gone and it was just rain."

Forty persons were admitted to Menomonee Memorial Hospital, where a staff meeting, convened just before the storm hit, found all 11 doctors on hand.

Other physicians were summoned here and to St. Joseph's Hospital at Chippewa Falls.

Larceny Charges Faced by 6 Here

Four are Adults
And Two Juveniles

Four adults and two juveniles from Washington C. H. and Fayette County are facing various charges of petty larceny and breaking - and - entering, Deputy Sheriff Don Thompson said.

Thompson said none of the six is now being held. All have been released on their own recognizance until the time of their arraignment, he explained.

Four of the six have signed confessions, Thompson said.

Kenneth Meek, 18, of 403 Elm St., James Russell Rhoads, 23, of 1011 Yeoman St., and Virgil Boggs of W. Temple St., along with a 16-year-old juvenile, have admitted burglarizing amusement devices at the Pine Room, Elm St. and Highland Ave., May 14, when $45 allegedly was taken.

The three adults will be arraigned in Municipal Court here Monday.

Richard Green, 18, Route 1, Jeffersonville, was arrested Wednesday and charged with petty larceny in connection with the theft of a tire and gasoline from John Long at Shady Grove near Jeffersonville. He will appear in Municipal Court Friday.

The 16-year-old Washington C. H. youth who admitted his part in the Pine Room burglary, along with another 16-year-old charged with petty larceny, will appear in Fayette County Juvenile Court Saturday. Deputy Thompson filed the petty larceny charges against them this Tuesday.

Manager Asks Home Control Of Mosquitoes

"Residents of the city can do much on their own to cut down the city's mosquito population," City Manager James Parkinson said Thursday.

"Mosquitoes breed in pools of water," Parkinson pointed out, "and residents should set out to eliminate these pools — which may hold only as much water as a teacup."

The city manager advised citizens to clear out blocked gutters and downspouts on houses, and eliminate any containers — however small — on their property that might serve as mosquito-breeding places.

"Water may have accumulated in old tin cans or even boots that have been discarded outdoors," he said, "and the result is a new breeding place for thousands of the flying pests. Chuckholes and low spots where water stands should be filled."

The city is treating sewer catch basins and small ponds with a chemical repellent.

Delay in SUB Issue

lenced Tichenor's ruling in one lawsuit and Joseph Posey, a Youngstown steelworker, sued Tichenor in another.

The SUB contracts, union-negotiated with employers, are designed to augment state benefits so that jobless workers could receive about two-thirds of their normal take home pay. Maximum state benefits are $39 a week for 26 weeks for unemployed workers with families.

THE SUB contract, covering about 270,000 of the 2,572,000 Ohio workers eligible for state benefits. The workers are mainly in steel, rubber, glass, automotive and electrical industries.

Gov. C. William O'Neill said about 40,000 workers are eligible to receive some $15 million in retroactive SUB payments if the courts clear the way.

The payments come from funds built up by employer contributions of five cents for each hour an employee works. The money is not deducted from employee earnings.

Tichenor stated that under his ruling he is required to seek recovery of the difference between state-paid benefits and SUB payments made to individual workers.

Failure to recover requires him to deduct such amounts from any future state benefits a worker might claim, unless his ruling is overturned by the Supreme Court.

O'Neill has taken no official stand on the SUB question. He has proposed an extension of the state jobless benefit period from 26 to 39 weeks without increasing the weekly maximum payments. A special session of the Legislature later this month will be asked to approve the extension along with action on other matters.

Women Talk, Talk and Talk

Talkathon Champion
Due To Win $1,500

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. — A marathon talkathon here has brought on a mounting list of women ready to prove there's nothing more long winded than a talkative woman.

The object is to see who can keep it up the longest. Sorta silly, but there's always an audience. And the first two contestants — proved themselves champions.

Contestant No. 3 is well into what she hopes will break the old mark and behind her are four more women. Ernie Eye, Fayetteville television personality, will challenge the eventual winner.

Contestant No. 3 is Mrs. Arthur Capps, 38, who started in at 7:54 p. m. Wednesday expounding on her experiences on the farm.

She's aiming for a record of 28 hours, 44 minutes and 14 seconds set by contestant No. 2, Mrs. J. D. McCauley, a 49-year-old grandmother. Mrs. Lois Grant, 27, a Fayetteville secretary, started this stuff Monday by talking 27½ hours.

"I CAN STILL talk, but I felt like it was time to quit," Mrs. McCauley said. "I tried it because my son came home and said, 'Mother, here's the time for you to get something for all that jabbering you do.'"

The contest goes on in an appliance store which has offered $1,500 in prizes. The proceedings are broadcast periodically over a radio station here.

Mrs. Capps talked through Wednesday night on household hints, canning, courtship, home demonstration clubs, the United Nations and dairy farming. Her husband is a milkman.

Route 22 Collision Causes Minor Damage

In the one fender-bender accident in Fayette County during the past 24 hours, a pickup truck driven by William C. Caskey, 38, London, and a car operated by Ruth E. Roseboom, 26, Clarksburg, collided at 2:45 p. m. Wednesday a mile west of New Holland on U. S. Route 22 at the Paint Creek bridge.

The east bound truck according to Sheriff Orland Hays, was braking to avoid hitting a car waiting at the west end of the bridge for an oncoming auto. It began to skid striking Miss Roseboom's west bound car, which had just left the bridge.

New Construction Activity Increases

WASHINGTON — The government reported today that new construction activity last month totaled $4.1 billion, a 10 per cent increase over April.

The Commerce and Labor Departments said this preliminary estimate was in line with seasonal expectations.

For the first five months of this year the dollar volume of construction was estimated at $17.7 billion, the same as a year ago.

Private construction thus far in 1958 was about 1 per cent lower than a year ago. However, public construction jumped about 4 per cent during the same period, largely because of increased spending for highways and military housing.

Civil Service Pay Hike Near Approval

WASHINGTON — Congressional approval appeared assured today for a 10 per cent pay increase for the government's one million white collar and supervisory civil service employees.

The Senate, which previously voted for a 7½ per cent increase, accepted Wednesday the 10 per cent figure approved by the House while adding some amendments.

The House is expected to accept the Senate changes and send the bill to the White House today.

The pay boost, applying to all classified civil service workers, is expected to cost the government $342 million a year.

Stopping Inflation a Recognized Necessity

One thing which people of Fayette County, as well as practically every other spot across the country, have felt keenly in the present economic cycle through which we are now passing, whether it be called a "recession" or a "readjustment" period is that it has as yet failed to halt the swing of inflation. Most economists however, believe this will follow soon.

It is not pleasant to contemplate unemployment anywhere, but from this angle Fayette County has not felt the situation to the same degree that many larger communities have experienced, except for those who have been working in industries in other places and have experienced "lay-offs."

It would be difficult to make a worker, out of a job, appreciate that a slowdown of the general economy may be having some beneficial results, nevertheless this is the case in many places, according to reports.

Unless this period maintains a difference from all past similar periods, there must be a "cutdown" in most prices before long.

A period of readjustment (really a proper name for the recent condition through which we have been passing) provides many opportunities for alert management to show its strength. Such management, even when demand exceeded production, was constantly striving to keep its costs of production down.

Now it is evident that production exceeds demands which every one hopes is for a temporary period. It is in this situation that those who maintained alertness to low cost production, with modern plants, are able to maintain their share of shrinking markets.

On the other hand, those managements that took no heed of the morrow, now may be beginning to find themselves gradually priced out of the market. They must bestir themselves to get their production costs down if they are to regain their share of the market.

The net result of this is that we, the consumers, will benefit. Creative competitive pressures certainly must be unleashed to help bring about more goods for more people at lower costs. In this way, the "period of business readjustment" will have a beneficial result and promote sounder economic growth, providing that it does bring an end to the inflationary movement.

How To Land Reluctant Man

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Many a would-be June bride won't be this year.

The reason in many cases will be very simple — and her own fault: She will waste her time building up her suitor's ego.

This is all wrong. The best way for her to bring a reluctant bachelor to the point of marriage is to tear him down.

It is doubtful whether more than one out of every five men marry from strength. The rest marry from weaknesses of one kind or another.

In four cases out of five, then, the problem of a marriage-minded girl isn't to make her prospective mate feel strong and superior. It is to make him feel weak, helpless and indecisive — unable to face the terror of daily life alone, with no strong shoulder such as hers to lean upon. He must be made to feel utterly dependent upon her.

How can this be done? How can a girl break down a healthy, freedom-loving bachelor so that he willingly will embrace matrimony as a refuge?

Here are a few off-hand tips: 1. Take him to the beach and let him get sunburned the color of a lobster.

2. Send to his sickbed a gift of roses—embowered in poison ivy leaves.

3. Wine him and dine him and keep him out late until he gets circles under his manly little eyes. When he shows signs of collapsing under the pace, let him know that what you'd really like is a home where you could tuck him in bed early every night and let him rest.

4. Once you've got him really worried about his health, have an insurance company mail him a few facts on male mortality, pointing out that husbands live longer and have fewer diseases than bachelors.

5. Lend him money to pay his medical and racetrack debts. Hint that, if you were married, you'd be willing to cancel not only the interest charges but the principal, too.

6. Tell him that you just got a raise and your job is safe, but that, at your firm they are laying off the bachelors first and the married men last. This will really worry him.

7. Finally, as a clincher, you wistfully inform him that a handsome new fellow at your office has proposed and that, while you don't love him, still a girl has to think of her future, etcetera.

By now completely dependent upon you, broken in body and spirit, the fear-ridden bum of your choice will cave in at once and plead for you to marry him.

Which you cheerfully do. You may be getting a human wreck for a husband—a wreck you made yourself — and your conscience may trouble you a bit. But remember, you've got the rest of your life to build your new husband back into manhood again.

Setting the Record Straight

By George Sokolsky

Thomas G. Dill of Middleboro Mass., writes:

"Evidently, you had rather fry than to speak to a Russian. I have no objection to your frying, if that is your desire, but I do object to your trying to get me fried with you.

Sorry, I do not want to fry or be fried, any more than Brother Dill does, but the difference between us is that I do not wish to see him fried. It would be an awful sight.

Dill's trouble is that he believes whatever Khrushchev tells him because he does not know Khrushchev, has never seen him and cannot vote for or against him. He does not have the same sentiments concerning Eisenhower or Dulles.

Also, he must be a very self-centered person. He says: "... I have no reason to believe that the Russians have any intention or desire to harm me, and I have no intention or desire to harm them."

Of course, to a degree that is correct. They probably never heard of Dill of Middleboro, Mass. But they have heard of the United States of America. In fact, Khrushchev said that he will bury us which is just a manner of speaking.

Soviet Russia is arming for war and they can only be arming the way they are doing it, to make war on the United States, because there is nobody else that size to make war upon. Dill says that he has never seen Khrushchev's threats. I am sorry that Dill's reading is so light and so dull, for Khrushchev's threats are very amusing at times, exhibiting a deep sense of humor and a capacity to be nasty while appearing to be gay.

Dill asks: "You write that Khrushchev threatens the United States in challenging language. I have never seen any of these threats, but what if he does? If he had surrounded us with military bases, as we have surrounded his country, I would be more apprehensive. You don't trust the Russians? Well, they have never invaded this country, as we invaded theirs."

Curiously enough, we never invaded Soviet Russia, despite the supposition that the Siberian expedition was an invasion of Russia by the United States. I happen to have been in Siberia and Manchuria during 1918 and 1919 and was quite familiar with all the phases of that invasion. Even historians sometimes miss the overtones of a public event and deal only with the cold words of a document.

What was happening in Siberia immediately after the revolution was that the Japanese were moving in not only to seize the Chinese Eastern Railroad in Manchuria but also part of the Trans-Siberian as far as China.

At the border between China and Russia stood Semenov; at Chita were the Czechs who were anti-Bolshevik; at Ufa was the Far Eastern Republic which the Bolsheviks had organized to deal with the Japanese; in Mongolia, at one time, the Chinese general "Little" Hsu tried to carve out a kingdom; at another time, the mad Balt Baron Ungern-Sternberg set up his grotesque, sadistic operation. Then there was Admr. Kolchak who was over all of them.

The American expeditionary force stepped in to save the railroads for a prospective free Russia and from the Japanese. As a matter of fact, we Americans, who were in China, Manchuria and Siberia, were so violently anti-Japanese that it was expected that war would break out between the United States and Japan at any moment.

One reason for holding the Washington Conference in 1921-1922 was to prevent such a war.

There were numerous incidents between the Americans and Japanese, some of which were very amusing, such as when a friend of mine, an American, was asked by a Japanese passport control officer in Manchuria what he was doing there, he replied that he had come to sell the natives battle-axes. This almost became a diplomatic incident.

The worst incident was actually in Tientsin when American soldiers of the 15th Infantry entered a Korean brothel and beat up some Japanese. This started a riot which lasted many hours and in which many were hurt and much property was destroyed. I lived all through the Tientsin incident.

If the United States ever really invaded Soviet Russia, it was by the American Relief Administration, under Herbert Hoover, which brought in bread and butter and meat for the starving.

Diet and Health Temporary Measures That Combat Fatigue

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

HOW can you fight fatigue? The best way, of course, is to get adequate rest. There are times, I know, when you just have to get a specific chore finished, when you feel you must press on despite your weariness.

Short-Term Use Only

There are various methods of combatting fatigue, or giving yourself a temporary lift. I want to emphasize that they should be used only for short-term emergencies. You will be courting trouble if you use these methods too frequently.

Coffee, tea and cola drinks, as most of you know, contain caffeine, which stimulates the brain and aids muscle contraction. Thus, it postpones fatigue, but it doesn't actually prevent it.

Avoid Over-Stimulation

Remember not to become over-stimulated. You are going to want to sleep after you have completed your emergency task, so be careful not to drink so much coffee, tea or cola that it will keep you awake hours after you have finished your work.

Small quantities of alcohol also can be a temporary help. Alcohol, of course, is a depressant, not a stimulant. However, a little aids in relieving tension and postponing fatigue.

Smoking May Help

The same holds true for smoking. Excessive smoking will make you feel more tired.

STEVE ALLEN says one of the greatest hazards encountered in a restaurant is the "Brush-off Type," who skips over your table to give you an effusive greeting, but is always looking around to make sure he's missing nothing else.

For instance: BRUSH-OFF. Hi, Steve! Great to see you. How's the wife?

STEVE. She just broke her leg.

BRUSH-OFF. Wonderful! Glad to hear it! (Waves to somebody six tables away.)

STEVE. Compound fracture.

BRUSH-OFF. (Spotting another celebrity.) You must be mighty proud.

Indiana GI's Body Found Along Road

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — The bullet-riddled body of John W. Moore, a 20-year-old Indiana airman stationed at Loring Air Force Base in Maine, was found alongside a Portage County road near here Wednesday.

The coroner said there were two bullet holes in the victim's head and that he had died some 18 hours before the body was discovered.

Moore was identified as being from Terre Haute, but a check there showed his parents had moved Wednesday to Plymouth, Ind. They were not immediately located.

Officers sought to find out if Moore had been driving an automobile. They theorized the tall, slender airman may have been shot and robbed by a hitchhiker who then fled in Moore's car. He had been on furlough.

One bullet was fired through the back of Moore's head and another through the top of the head.

Serial numbers on the uniform led to identification. The slayer had stripped his victim's wallet and pockets of any identifying clues, even ripping a cover from a pack of book matches which may have tipped off the area from where the matches were picked up.

Dr. John R. Turner, county coroner, said the body had no bruises or cuts to indicate a struggle before the shooting. Some fatigue clothes belonging to Moore were piled alongside his body. They were blood-stained and were being tested to determine if the blood came from the victim.

One deputy said Moore apparently was killed some place else and his body tossed from the automobile at the spot where it was found on a road east of here.

Methodists Seek Accord with Negro

LAKESIDE (AP)—The Ohio Methodist Conference is looking for ways to improve its cooperation with Negro Methodist churches in the state.

The Negro churches of the denomination are in the Lexington Conference, which include Negro Methodist churches in Kentucky and Michigan.

The 1,400 delegates at the Ohio Methodist Conference voted Wednesday to enlarge a program of "communication, cooperation and joint action with Negroes."

In other action, the conference elected 12 trustees for the new theological seminary to be built near Delaware. They include Stephen S. Beard of Van Wert.

American-Soviet trade program and Soviet purchase of machinery from this country.

Play or not, this fat and reasonably happy land is in for it. The United States faces a war with the Soviet Union — a trade war, be deadly when it really gets rolling.

The Soviets will use trade, plus aid, not for profit but for political penetration.

The Soviets, although they've made astonishing scientific and industrial progress, still lag behind this country in total industrial production, particularly in consumer goods.

Before they can really start a giant export trade program with the world — not just the United States — they will have to satisfy consumer demands of their own people.

First reaction in this government to Premier Khrushchev's proposal has been negative, particularly to his request for extensive credit.

But, with or without American help, a nation which has surpassed us in missile development will find a way to get the machinery it needs to satisfy its own people's wants and have plenty left over for some exporting.

Only last April Khrushchev vowed war against the West with consumer goods. He said: "Wars mean killing people. Why should we want war when we have other means — I mean consumer goods."

The more the Soviets raise the living standards of their own people, the more will be the attraction of communism for the backward peoples who want to move into the 20th century fast. They saw the Soviets do it in 40 years.

Only last week the Committee for Economic Development — a private, nonprofit group which analyzes economic problems — reported the Soviet Union is threatening the West through an economic offensive already under way by winning good will in underdeveloped countries with trade and loans.

Since the Soviets control their entire economy they should provide competition of a kind and on a scale this country has never encountered. For example: they could cut the price of any item to undersell goods from the high-priced free enterprise American economy.

Add to this unpleasant prospect the industrial development of Red China which in time should be able to find a broad market for its exports in Asia and the Pacific.

It's likely communism as we know it will change and soften — since nations like plants and animals go through evolutionary states — but the most to be expected is a softening into democratic socialism, not capitalism.

But socialism in the Soviet Union or China would still mean government control of natural resources and the means of production and distribution. In short, still a controlled economy.

The idea of American-Soviet trade or Soviet purchase of American machinery isn't something recent with Khrushchev. He's been talking of it for years, if only in informal talks with visiting Americans.

Business Chiefs Split
On Meaning of Old
National Figures

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Evaluating the new business statistics may be harder than usual this month. The temptation will be to read too much into them.

Business leaders already are split on the meaning of the old figures. And the new flood this week and next — on unemployment, industrial output, personal incomes—may shed less light than previously hoped.

Those who say they already can see the dawn of a new day will stress such things as the decline in unemployment between mid-April and mid-May, ignoring the fact that joblessness usually drops then, be times good or bad.

Those who say it's too early to tell about the recession's course yet will emphasize the expected rise in unemployment this month, ignoring the fact that it usually does rise when the schools let out a horde of new jobseekers.

Stockholders attending annual meetings have had a wide variety of forecasts to ponder. These range from flat statements by corporate executives that business is better and the outlook brighter to warnings that while there are glimmerings here and there signs of economic strength are insufficient yet to warrant any real optimism.

Bankers and their economists also are inclined to read the tea leaves differently.

In its June survey the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York says: "Signs of leveling out are no longer faint and sketchy. Rather, they have become quite numerous and are beginning to fall into an impressive pattern."

In its June letter the First National City Bank of New York says: "The business reports in May have included signs of betterment, which have improved business sentiment even though they supply no proof that a real turning point in the recession has been reached."

Guaranty Trust warns against believing there will be no more declines in some sectors of the economy, noting that "the summer period is always characterized by substantial seasonal swings, which are difficult to allow for."

And the National City hedges its stand by saying, "It is quite possible that this summer's flurry of plant shutdowns, inventory reductions, and increased unemployment will mark the climax of the decline."

Tearful Story Told

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—While on a patrol run, Deputy Sheriff Lowell Spooner accidentally discharged a tear gas gun in the front seat of the police car.

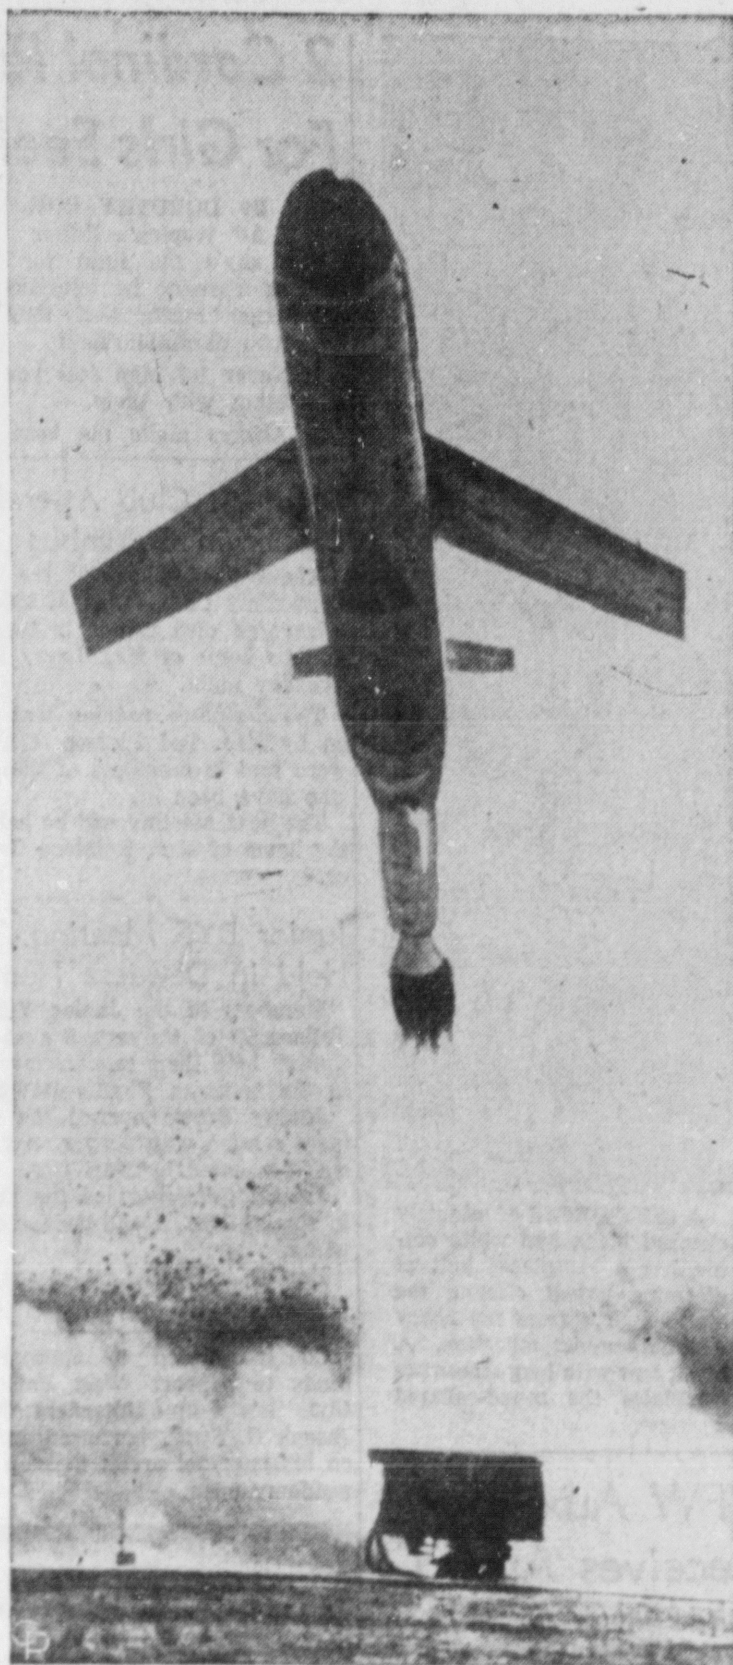

Deputy Leonard Finch hastily ran the automobile on to the highway shoulder and both officers dived out.

"Call for another car," said Finch.

"Call yourself," said Spooner. "I'm crying so hard I can't see our car."

They finally made it tearfully back to the sheriff's office after seven ailing-out stops.

Pat Brown Is Hustling Hard To Be California's Governor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—If you didn't know him, you might think twice before picking out Edmund G. (Pat) Brown as anyone likely to become governor of California.

In politics and in personality, the cheery, round-faced attorney general is the complete opposite of his Republican opponent, Sen. William F. Knowland.

But Republicans don't underrate the 53-year-old Democrat. He's a hustler and a vote-getter. For eight years he has been the only Democrat holding statewide office. Tuesday's primary results confirmed his two-party popularity.

Brown, a self-styled moderate, has an average-man look. He's plain and informal, with an air of sincerity. Once a Republican, he has helped unify his present party after years of disputes.

Brown both worked and joshed his way through an intensive pre-primary campaign.

"I have a hard name to remember but I hope you'll try," the plumpish candidate told one audience.

He combined personal campaigning with sharply worded attacks against Knowland and Knowland's injection of the so-called right-to-work issue.

Brown said he was all for cleaning up any labor union corruption. But as for right-to-work laws favored by Knowland, "I am against them, period."

The San Francisco-born attorney, of Irish-German descent, switched his registration to Democratic in 1934 after running unsuccessfully for the State Assembly.

He and Mrs. Brown have five children, including a 19-year-old son who is studying for the Catholic priesthood.

If he's elected, Brown will be California's first Democratic governor since 1938, its second in this century.

Every Dad Has His Day; This Year It's June 15

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
On this one day in every year It's open season on Father dear—

A day which Mother greets with glee,
A day when all the kids shout,
"Whee!"

Here's our chance to spruce up Dad,
Dress him up in the latest fad,
Make him a smoothie instead of a square,

Give him some stuff he'll have to wear!
So Mom and the girls have a shopping spree
And shower poor Dad with stylish debris—

Hand-painted neckties and hand-clocked socks,
Lotions and notions by the box,
Shouting the while in accents gay:

"Oh happy, happy Father's Day!"
It's plain that Dad can hardly bear it,
But what can he do but grin and wear it?

Long-suffering fathers will be deluged once again this year with shirts that don't fit, ties that don't match, socks that shrink. Their big day is June 15.

Just for a change, why not put a little serious thought into Dad's gift, and give him something he actually can use? Take a little time for detective work, and observe what's missing or wearing out in his wardrobe, what gadgets bring a gleam to his eye when he passes a shop window, what equipment he needs for his favorite sport.

If you buy those old standbys, socks, shirts or ties, for goodness' sake check the following points:

Look at his old ones and get the right size. Also get the same style he buys for himself. In buying shirts, be careful that you have not only neck size but also sleeve length, that you get the kind of collar he prefers and bow to his tastes as to plain or French cuffs. If he's a dyed-in-the-wool conservative don't try to force him into bright red socks or a shocking pink sports shirt.

Safest is an accessory or piece of equipment for his favorite sport or hobby. Here are some suggestions for classified Dads:

Golfer: There's a new Swiss gold watch just out that fastens on the belt, snaps open at a touch and is set on a slant for visibility.

Lounger: Try one of the new belts in fine soft leather, contoured for body fit, that fasten with a snap instead of a buckle and have a small, discreet monogrammed disc. These also can be made in fabric to match his suit or slacks.

Camera fan: Maybe he needs an exposure meter or a new flash attachment. Just cleaning out a corner for a darkroom might be the nicest thing you could do.

Fisherman: This is easy — he always has his eye on a new kind of rod, reel or waders. Just be sure you find out which kind.

Hunter: Ammunition for his pet gun will set him up for the season.

Gardener: How about a new power lawn mower? Or if that isn't within your budget, just replace that hoe with the broken handle.

Traveling man: A small compact leather shoe kit, containing brush, buffer and polish, will fit in his suitcase, keep him well polished.

Homebody: Well, there's always a pipe and slippers.

OSU Keeping Eye On Sputnik Rocket

COLUMBUS (AP)—The rocket which put Sputnik III into orbit now is about an hour ahead of the instrument-carrying satellite, an Ohio State University scientist reported yesterday.

Dr. John D. Kraus, director of OSU's Radio Observatory, said daily observations show the rocket is gaining 3 to 4 minutes per day on the satellite and should lap the satellite in another 10 days or so.

The scientist said the radio telescope recordings show another pair of objects in the Sputnik orbit, in addition to the rocket and the satellite. One of the objects is 20 minutes ahead of the rocket, the other 20 minutes behind.

Cleveland Union OKs New 2-Year Contract

CLEVELAND (AP)—Terms close to those rejected by the union in auto industry bargaining at Detroit have been agreed upon by Thompson Products, Inc. and the Aircraft Workers Alliance, an independent union.

A two-year settlement provides for wage increase of six to nine cents hourly as of last Sunday and six to nine cents next June 1. Additionally, 16 cents of a previously accumulated 17-cent cost-of-living allowance became part of basic hourly wage rates and two cents are added to cost-of-living allowances.

Harvester Union Asks Profit-Sharing Deal

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The United Automobile Workers (UAW) of the International Harvester Co. is asking a profit-sharing plan be included in a new contract, union spokesmen say.

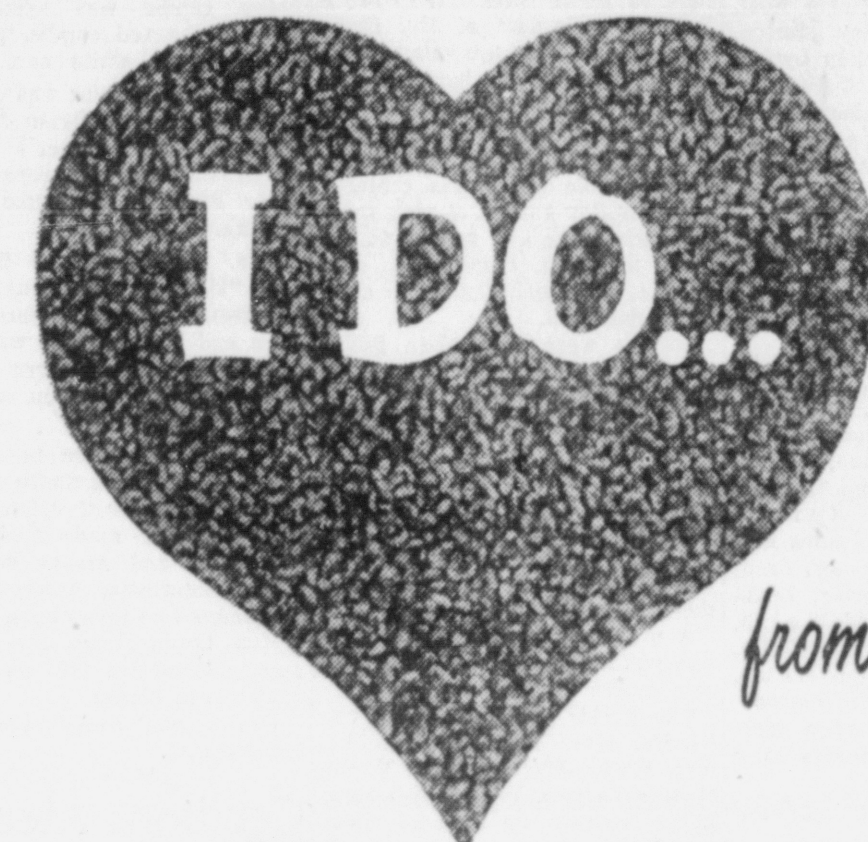

Under the proposed profit sharing plan, 25 per cent of IHC's gross profit, after a deduction of 10 per cent of the net capital, would be divided among all employees, union and non-union alike. The union proposes that 50 per cent of the profits would go to stockholders, with the remaining 25 per cent being rebated to customers.

Women's Assn. Circle Meets In Jackson Home

Miss Emma Jackson was hostess to members of Circle III of First Presbyterian Church Women's Assn. Wednesday afternoon.

A dessert course was served to 20 members and two guests, Mrs. Grafton Jones of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Willis Crafts, a new resident of Gardner Village.

Mrs. Gene Sagar led the Bible study on "Dr. Luke, the Physician and Musician." She stressed the thought that "Jesus heals men because they are in need, not because they deserve his attention." Luke, in his Gospel, emphasized the many healings of Jesus.

The five hymns recorded in the Book of Luke are the "Ave Maria," "Magnificat," "Benedictus," "Gloria in Excelsis," and "Nunc Dimittis." They are all songs of praise.

Mrs. Robert S. Harper led the program on the mission station in Ganada, Ariz. The church at Ganada reaches people of Indian tribes in an area over a radius of 30 miles, Mrs. Harper said.

2 Cardinal Rules Outlined For Girls Seeking Careers

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The sky's the limit for girls seeking careers in television—or any other business—if they observe two cardinal rules:

1. Never let men feel you are competing with them.
2. Always make the boss look good.

D. of A. Club Attends Dinner in Columbus

Eighteen members of the Past Councillors Club, D. of A. enjoyed a covered dish dinner in the Columbus home of Mrs. Larry Beck Tuesday night.

The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Ted Pierson. Cards were sent to members of the club who have been ill.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Ruthford Groover.

Junior BYF Meeting Held in Deweese Home

Members of the Junior Youth Fellowship of Calvary Baptist Church held their regular meeting in the home of Phyllis DeWeese. Jimmy Brown opened the business session with prayer. A flag was presented by Earl Orr.

Johnny Caplinger led the group in singing hymns and conducted a game.

Prayer, by the group, closed the meeting.

Congress failed to appropriate funds to support West Point in 1815. It's superintendent, Maj. Joseph G. Swift, borrowed $65,000 on his personal credit to keep the academy open.

The sound authority for this advice is a blonde dynamo named Rose Tobias, who holds down one of the most important jobs in television. As casting director for one of New York's biggest producing firms, she chooses the casts for major TV and Broadway shows.

"It's a man's world—and thank goodness it is!" says the glamorous Rose. "But there's plenty of opportunity for women too, if they don't go around making noises like feminists and carrying a constant chip on the shoulder."

"I never try to make a man think I'm smarter than he is, and I always believe in making the men I work with look good."

In the Talent Associates firm of which Rose is an executive there are 16 girls employed and seven men. Currently, Rose is working on the TV production of "Member of the Wedding."

To the thousands of college girls who will start out this month, diplomas in hand, looking for jobs in television, Rose has some more specific advice: "The way to get your toe in the door is to start as a secretary. That's the easiest and quickest way for a girl to start a career in any field. Every business always needs competent secretaries. And once you're on the inside, you can pick up knowledge fast."

The thing nobody can understand is how Rose, who combines brains and beauty to an unusual degree, has managed to remain unmarried, when she meets the world's most attractive men every day. She explains: "I guess I just turn casting director when I meet an eligible man, and decide he's not the type."

Dancer Still Kicking High; Retains Youth at Age 70

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

You can keep your arteries young by dancing, says 70-year-old Florence Colebrook Powers, who still trips the light fantastic for a living, maintaining a youthful figure and lovely skin.

"I'm not going to say that dancing is the only answer to a youthful appearance," she says, "but it does help keep one young. It burns off excess fat, puts color in your cheeks and a glow in your eyes. Music keeps the mind elevated."

One of the foremost dancers of the twenties, Mrs. Powers studied ballroom dancing at Castle House, established by the famed Vernon and Irene Castle. She studied also with Francis Carter, the Shakespearean interpreter, and with Ruth St. Denis. She studied ballet in Europe.

She was the rage in Rochester, N. Y., in the days when people spent afternoons waiting and drinking tea.

"There were fewer heart attacks in those days," Mrs. Powers says. "Mature people got out more and learned to relax."

Western New York, known for its conventional living, became a changed area after Mrs. Powers introduced her dances. She recalls:

"Everybody was learning ballroom dances, the waltz, fox trot and tango. Women bobbed their hair and there was a revolution in the mode of dress."

She sees a return now to ballroom dancing, especially for older people who need the outlet. Soft, melodious music is making a comeback for that very reason, she says, and even chiffon, the fabric of the dance floor, is back in fashion again.

Because she has been dancing professionally for almost half-a-century, Mrs. Powers has had to observe all the rules of beauty to keep glamorous. She does the little exercises.

"One of my favorites keeps the middle from sagging like an old divan," she says. "It may be done sitting or standing. Just sit down, stretch high in the air with both arms, lifting the body up from the waist. Or stand against a wall and lift the hands as high as you can. "Learn to hold your head high, too, for a wonderful feeling. It's impossible to be despondent, when you learn to keep your chin up. Stand on your toes frequently to limber up your knees—the ugliest feature of a woman, especially the back knee muscle," she reminds us. "Avoid fat-making foods. Each person may have a different problem. I can eat sweets," she explains, "because I burn it off dancing."

Her legs and figure are as lithe and graceful as a young girl's. Her skin is soft and unlined, except for character lines. But it takes time to keep young, she remarks. She uses creams instead of water on her face, and never misses a daily application.

She is a widow. Her mother, Eleanor Maddock, was a well-known writer, and Mrs. Powers has added fiction writing to her repertoire of interests. She is at present engaged in writing a novel about an old house she owns in Fairmont, N. J.

"It will make a wonderful movie," says the indefatigable Mrs. Powers, who believes, "You've got to keep your brain young and active too."

At present she is associated with

What's in a Kiss? Here's the Answer!

By JERRY KLEIN
Central Press Assn.

June is here again, that wonderful, starry-eyed month devoted to orange blossoms, romance and — above all — kisses!

Of course, you know what a kiss is, don't you? According to one definition, it's "the juxtaposition of two orbicularis oris muscles in a state of contraction!"

Well, however you define a kiss, it has meant many different things to different people. To the Greeks, for instance, a kiss was considered a precious gift from the gods.

A few sou. philosophers in the Middle Ages thought a kiss was an enticement of the devil.

Early naturalists thought of a kiss as a "modified bite," stemming from mankind's cannibalistic past and so explained the reasoning behind the statement: "I love you so much I could eat you up!" Charles Darwin tried to trace the kiss back to the lower animals which seize their prey with their teeth.

Whatever the origin, one thing is certain: kissing has a long history. So long, in fact, that it has given rise to a number of romantic superstitions, many of which are still popular today.

FOR INSTANCE, do you know why men line up after a marriage ceremony to kiss the new bride?

Research reveals they do this because, according to an old English belief, all who kiss the bride after the ceremony will be joy good luck for a whole year afterward!

Have you ever wondered why we kiss minor injuries to "make them well"? This custom goes back to the medieval practice of sucking the blood from wounds suffered by knights in combat.

The Welsh believe that the sex of the first baby kissed by a bride foretells the sex of her own first-born child.

The French say that if a dark-complexioned man loves you and kisses you, expect a proposal of marriage — but not necessarily from him. And in the Dark Ages, kissing a pretty woman was thought to be a sure cure for a headache, which beats aspirin any day of the week!

Of course, kisses have caused some king-size headaches, too. Paris, the prince of Troy, precipitated the Trojan war when he dared to kiss Helen. Some historians say that the busses Cleopatra bestowed on Caesar and Antony sealed their doom.

HISTORY is full of laws forbidding kissing. An ancient Greek who kissed a woman on the streets — even his wife — was subject to death. Persia once caged women caught kissing in public and sus-

Here's the Answer

Question: The backs of our bed-room chairs have intricate carved mouldings which are finished in a gold or gilt color. A piece of the moulding on one chair broke off some time ago. I meant to glue it back on, but never got around to it. Now I have lost the broken piece. Is it possible to replace this? The broken part is only about 3 inches long

Answer: You may not be able to buy moulding to match the kind on the chair, but any place which deals in millwork can make it up for you. It may cost more than you think, because it will take almost as long to make up one piece of moulding to specifications as to make up 100 pieces. There is something else you might try — wood-putt or one of the plastic wood materials. Place a strip of it where the moulding is broken and then shape it carefully to match the rest of the moulding by using your fingers and any small, pointed tool. This is actually a form of sculpture. If you don't get an exact match the first time, scrape off the putty before it gets too hard and start again. Once you have succeeded in getting a satisfactory result, allow the putty to harden. Then use a matching gold or bronze paint, which will further help to disguise the patch.

The Coliseum of Rome accommodated 100 thousand persons, but 13 thousand of them had to stand.

Plates Serve Well But Not Legally

FOSTORIA — Ben Myers, of Leary Risington, has been notified by the sheriff's office that he drove blithely through most of last year with the wrong license plates on his car.

This came to light after a Wapakoneta woman wrote Myers that he owed her $50 for having a car parked on her private lot for many months.

Myers wrote back that the car wasn't his.

But the woman responded that a license check showed the plates had been issued to his name.

The sheriff's office speculated that someone had switched plates early last year and abandoned the other car in Wapakoneta.

He also is advising her on clothes and equipment which will be needed for the safari as well as the stops in big cities.

This must include city clothes and cocktail dresses as well as such things as mountain boots, waterproof parka, bush hat, mountain cap, bush jacket, khaki slacks and swim suit.

Everything will be easily washable. Dresses will be of permanent-finish nylon. And it all has to go in one large bag and one overnight case of light-weight aluminum, total weight not to exceed 60 pounds.

UP TO now Billie has lived in Seattle with her parents, and never has traveled more than 200 miles from home. The start of her adventurous trip will be her first airplane flight.

ended them for 24 hours from the city gate while the man involved was whipped through the streets. Even today Connecticut has an old "blue law" forbidding a man to kiss his wife on Sunday!

Like any fine art, of course, kissing is practiced differently in different areas. Pressing the lips together as we do would startle the lovers of Mongolia, for example.

The Mongolian male merely touches his nose to his beloved's cheek or forehead.

An amorous Abyssinian kneels down and kisses the ground to express his love. A Turk kisses his own hand, then places it on his forehead.

Other peoples show affection by blowing on each other's hands, rubbing their right ears and sticking out their tongues and snacking each other on the stomach.

Teacher Prepares for Safari

SEATTLE — It pays to be a good schoolteacher these days. Pretty Billie-Marie Gannon, 22-year-old junior high school teacher, can testify to that. Because she's such a good teacher she's going to have an adventure beyond her wildest dreams this summer. As winner of a national contest conducted under supervision of the National Education Association, Billie is going to an African safari. Says she:

"I'm really orbiting over this — doing loop-the-loops through space! Who ever said school teaching was dull?"

Miss Gannon's trip will include stops in New York, Brussels, Paris and Rome as well as Kenya, Tanganyika, Uganda, Sudan and Egypt. The climax will be a climb to the peak of Mount Milliman-jaro to search for the tomb of King Menelek, son of Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

She will be accompanied by John Goddard, African explorer and a member of the faculty of Brigham Young University, whose wife also will be a member of the expedition.

CURRENTLY Goddard is overseeing Billie's preparations for her great adventure. These include swimming lessons at a Seattle club, shots for everything from tetanus to typhus and a daily stint of walking, to get her in condition for the 20 miles a day she will be hiking in Africa.

He also is advising her on clothes and equipment which will be needed for the safari as well as the stops in big cities. This must include city clothes and cocktail dresses as well as such things as mountain boots, waterproof parka, bush hat, mountain cap, bush jacket, khaki slacks and swim suit.

Everything will be easily washable. Dresses will be of permanent-finish nylon. And it all has to go in one large bag and one overnight case of light-weight aluminum, total weight not to exceed 60 pounds.

The game, rummy, gets its name from the British word, "rum", which means odd or queer.

ADVENTURE BOUND: Explorer John Goddard aids Miss Billie Marie Gannon, Seattle school teacher, in selecting equipment for African safari she won in national teacher awards contest.

Jazz Getting New TV Eye

Garroway Says Music Rated as 'Culture'

By DAVE GARROWAY

NEW YORK (AP)—There's a growing trend on television this season to pay more attention to jazz. Do a little probing, and I think you'll find the reason why. Jazz looms so big on TV because it reflects the kind of culture in which we live — its growing tensions, anxieties, pace. As a music form, it is coming of age because it reflects reality.

Too, the lunatic fringe is dropping off, and jazz is becoming socially acceptable. The Newport concerts in jazz have helped that quite erudite articles on jazz in tremendously. Today, you see, quite erudite articles on jazz in dignified national magazines.

Jazz is on the upswing. In the past decade, it has come a long way. Proof is the growth of jazz festivals, album sales, concerts, and hi-fi sales, as well as the night clubs specializing in jazz, and jazz is becoming respectable.

The growing trend toward jazz on TV was boosted last fall when "Seven Lively Arts" presented a superb 90-minute special called "The Sound of Jazz." There have been several other good ones since. For instance, on April 9, NBC — TV paid tribute to jazz with "Swing Into Spring," a musical show starring Benny Goodman, Ella Fitzgerald and Harry James.

Despite its growing popularity on TV, jazz, the fabulous infant, to coin a cliché, has a long way to go. America's ear isn't yet tuned to jazz — completely.

Blame, if you must, the fact that many people don't really know what jazz is. Some think it's interchangeable with rock 'n' roll, not having heard it. They don't understand it, and so they're afraid of it, because it's only natural to fear something you don't understand.

And of course, the American people have had too much bad jazz — jazz that's cheap, vulgar, dull.

In TV, perhaps, lies a great hope of swinging America around to hearing good jazz. TV will undoubtedly yield more power as time goes on. TV is a great method of knowing people. If a viewer gets interested in the musician playing jazz — even if he simply likes the way he looks — he will begin to like jazz a little more.

Woman Takes Close Look At Downtrodden U. S. Male

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The currently popular view of the American woman is that she has two heads, breathes fire and beats her husband every morning before breakfast.

She is accused of wearing the pants in the family and wielding the whip, of driving her husband to an early grave and robbing him of his manhood.

The latest diatribe against the beleaguered American female is a grim little book called "The Decline of the American Male" by three males. It is illustrated with macabre sketches, showing helpless little men being squashed like bugs beneath the thumbs of giant women, fished to a treadmill or driven into a rat race.

According to the three authors, Mr. America is in a bad way. His wife, they say, makes all the decisions of daily living, up to and including sex. She gives him an apron and makes him do the housework. She forces him to do greater and greater exertions in order that she may keep up with her girl friends in mink coats, diamonds and automobiles. She won't let him go out with the boys at night, and objects when he wants to spend a few hours on the golf course in innocent play.

She ridicules him when he fails to get a raise at the office and chastises him when he makes a mistake at home.

If this is all true, we women should be pretty sick of ourselves by now.

Maybe I don't move in the right circles, but the women I know don't have two heads—or if they do it doesn't show. They are more likely to over-coddle than to lash him. They worry about his colds and whether he wears his rubbers. And they hate to have him take a hand with the housework—it's always so much more trouble cleaning up after him.

When the men of my acquaintance take on household chores, it's always the dramatic ones, and in public. They love to grill a thick steak at a cookout, provided it has been prepared in advance, and there's a woman around to wash the dishes.

When pressed, they will mind the baby while Mom does the marketing—but don't think she won't hear about it for weeks to come.

And that growing number of American women who hold down jobs outside the home are so worried, according to my observation, about becoming unfeminine that they redouble their efforts at cooking, housekeeping and looking glamorous after hours. Domesticity becomes something to be jealously guarded.

The authors don't offer much of a solution for the burdens of the modern man, except to suggest that he really should revolt. But they conclude: "The only trouble is, would his wife object?"

The dollar was fixed as the unit of currency of the United States by an act of Congress on April 6, 1792.

Venezuela Cool To Americans

Nixon Troop Move Draws Criticism

By LARRY ALLEN

CARACAS (U.P.)—There are 40,000 Americans in Venezuela. Do the Venezuelans like them?

Most Americans say "yes," but not the Venezuelans.

A feeling against Americans is acute in the worker and white-collar classes.

Said one government worker: "Unfortunately, it isn't true that most of the Venezuelan people like Americans. Americans get that opinion of themselves through associates in business or the relative small groups of high Venezuelan society with which they come in contact."

"There are tens of thousands of Venezuelans who feel that they are not making enough out of their jobs, and that many posts are given to newly arriving Americans after they have been run and operated by Venezuelans."

"Outside Caracas, there's widespread unemployment, thousands live in poverty and squalor."

Whale of a Tale: One that Got Away

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (U.P.)—Capt. Joseph Corea of the dragger "Papa Joe" tells of a struggle with a 60-ton whale that nearly pulled him and his crew to their deaths.

Some Venezuelans interviewed say relations with the United States are deteriorating.

The Americans here seem sure of one thing — that they had a close shave after the rioting against Vice President Nixon in Caracas May 13. As one put it: "Whatever caused Washington to order troops sent to Puerto Rico for a possible shift into Venezuela? Apparently someone over looked that more than the Nixons might have been in danger."

"There seems little doubt the Venezuelans would have been so enraged that they would have started on a hunt to get all Americans—and it would have only taken a word from the Communists to get the ball rolling."

Qualified Venezuelan sources agree with that opinion. Dr. Rafael Caldera, president of the Copi party and long a friend of the United States, said all Venezuela "would have risen like one man" to repel any U. S. invasion.

Corea said they encountered a pod of some 14 whales. One of them nosed into their net, apparently looking for fish on which to feed.

During the whale's struggle to free itself, the captain said, the dragger's stern was pulled down to the gunwales. About then the crew was first able to play out the net.

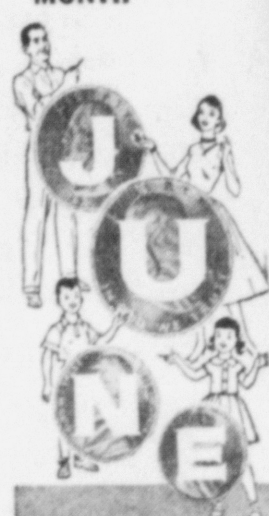

After a feverish 30 minute struggle, the fisherman managed to dispatch the whale and cut the line, allowing the carcass to sink. Capt. Corea related.

Coast Guard Stop Ketch Golden Rule

HONOLULU (AP) — Coast Guardsmen stopped pacifists from sailing the ketch Golden Rule toward the Atomic Energy Commission's test area again Wednesday — this time on the high seas.

Albert Smith Bigelow, Cos Cob, Conn., the Golden Rule's skipper, was arrested before the ketch sailed on a charge that he conspired to violate a federal court injunction against the sailing.

William Huntington, St. James, Long Island, N.Y., returned to Honolulu, providing a navigator just in time to get the 30-foot vessel under way.

George Willoughby, Blackwood, Terrace, N.J., one of the crew, said the ketch was well outside the three-mile territorial limit when the Coast Guard caught up. Huntington was arrested on the return to Honolulu.

A previous attempt to sail was made May 1. That resulted in Judge Jon Wiig finding the crew guilty of violating his injunction against the trip. He gave them suspended sentences and put them on probation for a year that time.

Other crewmen are Orion Sherwood, Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and James Peck, New York City. Bigelow, Huntington and Willoughby are Quakers. Sherwood is a Methodist. Peck says he is a non-religious pacifist.

109 Cases Pending In Fayette Court

A total of 109 cases were pending in Fayette County Common Pleas Court on June 1, three more than on the first day of the preceding month.

Nineteen new cases (14 civil and five criminal) were filed during May, and disposition was recorded in 16 cases (14 civil and two criminal).

Cases now pending before the court are 46 domestic relations actions, 51 other civil suits and 12 criminal charges.

Seven of the 16 cases disposed of during the month were tried before the court, one before a jury, three were cognovit or default judgments and five cases were dismissed upon settlement.

These included five domestic relations cases, nine other civil actions and two criminal cases.

One traffic point system case was handled by the court in May.

Six Fayette County cases are pending before the Second District Court of Appeals. The appellate body disposed of three Fayette cases during the month, and no new actions were filed.

New Women's Reformatory Chieftain Doesn't Label Inmates as Outcasts

By JOHN PASCAL
MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — "No, I don't know all their names yet," says the new head of the Ohio Reformatory for Women of her 355 wards. But if you can somehow manage to keep up with her as she makes her daily rounds, you might find yourself wondering.

Along the gleaming corridors, in the recreation halls, in each small, tidy room, it's "hi, Ethel," or "hello, Mary, how's the sewing coming along?" Or maybe a smile or a quick, friendly wave of the hand. And whether she calls them by name or not, the girls respond with a smile of their own and a warm "afternoon ma'am," or "just fine, Miss Wheeler."

For energetic, 37-year-old Martha Wheeler, now rounding out two months as superintendent of the sprawling 258-acre women's reformatory, it's just one more way of letting the inmates know she thinks of them as troubled human beings, not as society's outcasts. A bachelor's degree in social administration, and later a law degree from Ohio State University, plus a decade and a half of work at women's reformatories in the east, have helped shape Miss Wheeler's thinking along the lines of most modern penologists.

"We can't operate our institutions on a purely custodial basis," she says. "We can't lock a person up for two or three years or longer with nothing more than punishment as our goal. We have to train them and prepare them for their return to normal social life as useful, productive citizens."

In the public's mind, the inmate of a reformatory or prison still presents the image of an evil person, "a person who has deliberately chosen crime as his or her way of life," says Miss Wheeler.

"I don't think anything can be farther from the truth. The great majority of inmates, both men and women, are people who for most of their lives have had a pretty rough go of it and who somehow, on some occasion, find themselves backed into a corner. Their only instinct is to lash out. They see no other course. Inevitably, they get in trouble."

"Well, it's our job to make the girls understand they didn't have to do it their way; that there was an alternate course open to them that is acceptable to society. We have to find out why they did wrong, and then make them see why, so that they can avoid the same mistake in the future."

The Marysville reformatory and similar institutions are doing the best they can, says Miss Wheeler, but here, as elsewhere, she adds, a big problem is financing.

The reformatory has a staff of 84, including 35 or so matrons, hired farm help, plumbers, carpenters, custodial engineers, nurses, a part-time doctor and a part-time dentist.

"But we need at least one psychologist," says Miss Wheeler, "and a social case worker, and at least one trained teacher and some one trained in recreational supervision. We'd like someone to take over our music program and our library. We'd like a diagnostic center, more people to conduct group conferences, more counselors. They are needed not only here but in most institutions if the institutions hope to solve human problems."

JAZZ AND LAUGHTER — Starring Nat King Cole in "Country Music Holiday" (above) opens Sunday at the Fayette Theater. At Chakras 3-C Drive-in Theater, the twin bill will be made up of "Cool and the Crazy" and "Dragstrip Riot."

We have a double obligation to help these inmates. We owe it to the community and we owe it to the girls themselves."

Miss Wheeler took over as head officer of the reformatory April 1, succeeding Mrs. Marguerite Reilly, who retired after 21 years in the post.

What drew her into a career of penology?

"I more or less grew up with

16 Building Permits Issued During May

Sixteen city building permits were issued during the month of May, according to records in the city auditor's office.

The total value of the construction covered is $100,100. Nine of the 16 permits were listed as being for private residences.

Contractor Francis Cupp picked up the highest number of permits, getting three for private residences on Winnipeg Plaza - valued at $13,000 each.

Other private homes listed in the permits are: Stanley Mark, Leesburg Ave., $10,000; Ben Norris, Golfview Dr., $10,600; Porter Campbell, Forest St., $6,500; Luther Anderson, Golfview Dr., $14,500; Mark Schaeper, Golfview Dr., $12,000; and Harold Foraker, 829 Broadway, $2,200.

A permit to "remodel a commercial building", with the work to cost $25,000, was issued to Bud Brownell, 202 E. Court St.

Additional rooms, living areas or car shelters required these citizens to get permits for the work: Ray Cline, 1229 Rawlings St., additional bedroom, $800; Charles Armstrong, 729 Park Dr., additional utility room $500; George Haynes, 117 McKinley Ave. double carport, $700; Frank Schwaigert, 822 S. Main St., private garage, $200; A. L. Morris, 409 Perdue Plaza, additional patio, $460; Charles Mustine, 1127 Washington Ave., addition to residence $150.

it," she relates. "When I was eight my parents took over the operation of The Madison Home, an institution in Madison, Ohio, for elderly wives, widows and mothers of war veterans. I lived with them and came to understand them as human beings with very human problems."

Following her graduation from law school, Miss Wheeler worked at the New Jersey State Reformatory for Women at Clinton, N. J., and then spent eight years in a variety of administrative posts at the New York State Reformatory and Prison for Women at Bedford Hills, N. Y. She was serving as guidance supervisor there when her appointment to the Ohio reformatory was announced March 15.

Miss Wheeler admits she's still feeling her way along in her new job, but staff members and inmates alike, by their openness with her and by the extra little courtesies they extend her, indicate they like and admire her. They respect her for the solid, formidable workmanship she brings to her job, but they like her for the human touch, the occasional gesture or understanding.

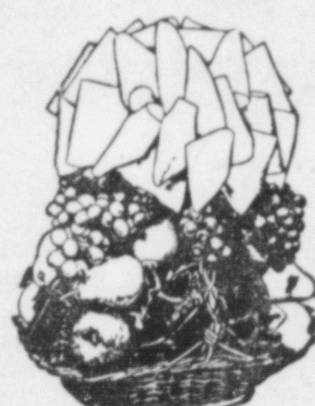

An example?

After a day that starts at 6:15 a. m. and includes seven and a half hours on the job, either in the fields, or in the laundry, or the kitchen, it's back to their rooms for all inmates at 8 p. m. Except Saturday. On Saturday nights, Miss Wheeler lets them stay up until 8:30.

"They're crazy," she says, "about the Perry Mason show."

Ohio Idle Pay Total Continues Down Swing

COLUMBUS — The number of Ohioans collecting jobless benefits continued its downward swing last week, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation (BUC) reports.

Continuing claims dropped to 206,832, nearly 7,000 below the previous week's mark. The high-water mark was about 225,000 approximately six weeks ago.

No figures were available to indicate how much of the decrease can be attributed to workers finding employment and how much can be blamed on exhaustion of their maximum benefits.

In civilian life, he plans to specialize in solid state physics.

Last month, he spent four days at the Air University at Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama. He will go to Lockbourne Air Force Base for his summer training.

PENSYL is a member of Anchor and Chain, Navy honorary society; a starter on the Navy basketball team at Ohio State, which finished fourth in the Navy ROTC tournament in Chicago last winter.

During his first year in training, he went on a two-month cruise on the Battleship Wisconsin to England, Scotland, Spain and Cuba. Last summer he spent three weeks at Little Creek, Va., receiving Marine training and three weeks at Corpus Christi, Tex., for flight training in jets and sea planes. He also received a week's indoctrination in submarine operations at New London, Conn., and a week at Pensacola, Fla., for further flight training.

Scabbard and Blade, a national interservice honorary military organization, has 35 members at Ohio State, chosen from among the outstanding cadet officers of the advance course of the Army, Navy and Air Force ROTC.

The organization is now established in most of the country's colleges and universities with an ROTC program.

The purpose of Scabbard and Blade is to raise the standards of military education and to bring into closer relationship the military departments. It encourages the essential qualities of good and efficient officers and acquaints the people with the national defense needs.

To qualify for membership in Scabbard and Blade, a cadet officer must be "an officer and a gentleman...and possess qualities of leadership, patriotism, efficiency, loyalty, courage honor and good fellowship."

Greenfield Loses Power Bill Suit

GREENFIELD—Common Pleas Judge Charles R. Kirk, of Wilmington has overruled a motion for a new hearing in a test suit brought by the village of Greenfield against W. F. Woodmansee for collection of an allegedly delinquent utilities account for $2,376.12.

Judge Kirk heard the case by assignment in Highland County Common Pleas Court on May 1 and directed the jury to return a verdict of dismissal in favor of Woodmansee on the basis of the six-year statute of limitations.

Woodmansee is assistant director of the Korean Bonus Fund of Ohio.

AS A DIRECT result of Judge Kirk's ruling, the Board of Public Affairs announced it will declare all Water and Light Department accounts six years old or older to be uncollectable and will strike them from the department's records.

Delinquent bills less than six years old will be collected directly or, if this fails, will be certified to the Highland County auditor as liens against real estate, the board said.

Parking Meter Revenue Totals $3,219 in May

Revenue from parking meters in Washington C. H. during May totaled $3,219, according to Mrs. Betty Elliott, city auditor. April collections were $3,091.

Teen-Agers Keen On Picking Hits

EDITOR'S NOTE: The author of the following article is star of the "Dick Clark Show" and hosts "American Bandstand" on the ABC television network.

By DICK CLARK
NEW YORK (AP)—Take two round, shiny, black records. Ten weeks from now one will be the biggest hit in America; the other will be just a sad memory for the artist who made it.
How do you tell which is which? A musical show becomes known for the quality of music it plays; if you can spot hit material before release—and then "give it a ride," your audience comes to expect good records of you, and yes, grows.
But you can't make a hit out of a tune that doesn't have the potential; all you can do is bring it before a bigger audience and make more people dislike it. And spotting incipient top-toppers is a full-time job.
Aside from your own, fallible intuition, you have three main sources for tips on future hits—mail, personal contact and, most important of all, hops. It may seem unusual for a network performer to play local record hops in and around Philadelphia, at scale or gratis.
But I'd willingly pay out my own money to go on running these affairs for teen-agers, and not as a matter of charity, either. May I never get so smug that I stop doing hops; that's where I find out what records are going to do what.

U. S. Show Biz 'Diplomat' Plugs for Soviet Exchange

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Sol Hurok, who qualifies as the John Foster Dulles of show biz, came to town plumping for more cultural exchange with Russia.
"The more we exchange artists with the Communists, the better our chances for peace," said the bullet-shaped impresario. "The success of the cultural exchange proves that John Smith and Ivan Spasovitch are interested in friendship."
Hurok is the No. 1 man in the new program. At present, he is sponsoring the U. S. tour of the sensational Moiseyev dance troupe. He has sent or is sending his own artists to Russia for tours—such names as Marian Anderson, Jan Peerce, Leonard Warren, Isaac Stern, Roberta Peters and Nathan Milstein.
"The reception of our performers there is just as sensational as the reaction to the Moiseyev dancers," Hurok declared. "It is a great thing for both countries."
There can be no doubt of the success of the Moiseyev company. It will play to a half-million customers in an 11-week tour.
Hurok has more Russian delights up his sleeve. On Nov. 5, he brings the Berioska company of 65 women dancers to New York. He is also importing a noted pianist, violinist and lieder singer from Russia and next spring will see the invasion of the great Bolshoi ballet.
Russian-born Hurok, who arrived at Ellis Island in 1906 with a $1.50 stake, has journeyed to his native land four times in the past year to book talent. With his fine eye for potential attractions, he can spot stars that the Russians have underestimated.
"I told them they didn't realize

Vacationing Dulles Helps Wife with Her Housework

NEW YORK (AP)—Relaxing from the cares of state, John Foster Dulles squeezes lemon juice for his wife, washes and dries the breakfast dishes and splits small wood.
This glimpse of the secretary of state on vacation comes from a log of their latest trip to their cabin on Duck Island in Lake Ontario.

The diary "By Janet and Foster Dulles" is published today in a copyrighted story in the New York Herald Tribune.
Dulles generally gets up at 7 a.m. and starts an open fire going. The lemon squeezin' done, his wife gets up, and, if the water is warm enough, she swims.
Breakfast is consumed leisurely in an hour. After Dulles washes and dries the dishes, he dumps the garbage and contents of wastepaper baskets; hauls water, splits small wood, and brings logs and the wood into the cabin for the day's fires.

There is no luncheon at Duck Island. Most of the day, the log reports, the Dulleses spend considerable time and effort keeping themselves living comfortably.
In the early spring and fall, the hours from 10:30 to 4:30 are spent in walks, looking for deer, larks and flowers. Maples are tapped for syrup and dead trees cut down, sawed and chipped, in the spring.
Summer means fishing, sailing and canoeing. Berries are picked according to season.
On rainy days, Dulles often works on speeches and his wife types for him.
The dinner meal is quite elaborate and carefully thought out. It is cooked largely over an open fire and follows cocktails and hors d'oeuvres—outdoors if weather permits.
A typical dinner includes hickory nuts from the island; raw carrots and celery; tinned lobster, crab or anchovies; broiled giblets or pate de foie gras; soup or fish and meat, generally chops, beefsteak, chicken or veal cutlets; and two green vegetables; and potatoes or rice.
That's not all. Pie or homemade pudding follow, salad with French dressing in warm weather; and

Charges Due In U. S. 'Sacks'

Designers To Show
New 'Relaxed Look'

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's garment district took on the characteristics of a record day at the stock exchange today as buyers from all sections of the country jammed the showrooms nervously awaiting the unveiling of new fall fashions.

While the great chemise controversy still raged from coast to coast, the dilemma facing the nation's buyers was: Will women heed their husbands' protest against the sack, or will they defy them and buy the new clothes anyway?

First news from the embattled fashion front is that manufacturers have provided a few alternatives to the sack for fall. The first dress and suit collections to open continue the "relaxed look" which camouflages the waistline, but offer a choice of several silhouettes. The most important appears to be the high-waisted Empire look, with the belt just below the bustline, the skirt falling loose and free. The next is the bloused silhouette, with belt or band somewhere around the hips.

Indications on the first day of the openings is that the woman of fashion may wear her belt almost anywhere next fall except at the normal waistline. Some of the more extreme fashions show a belt about six inches above the knees, often with a flared or pleated flounce below.

The few fitted, full-skirted styles shown are principally for late-day or evening wear. Some canny evening dress designers show a transparent lace or chiffon chemise or loose coat over a carefully fitted slip, thus bowing to the new mode while preserving due attention to the lines of the feminine figure.

Skirts are barely below the knees in costumes for all occasions, except for full-length ball gowns.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

There may be "gold in them thar hills," but there is also "gold" on many farms right here in Fayette County, but some of the owners may not realize it.

For instance I believe Carl Bandy, who owns a sizeable farm on Route 277, in the northeastern corner of the county, has one of the best "gold mines" in the county on his farm.

Carl's "gold mine" consists of a huge deposit of sand and gravel which was dumped upon his farm, and possibly one of the adjacent farms, including that of Ralph Bozo, formerly the John Leavell farm, by the ice sheets.

I know of no gravel pit in Fayette County that has a greater deposit of sand. Part of the pit shows a face of almost solid sand. The deposit of sand and gravel is at least 60 feet in depth, as shown by tests.

I did not examine the sand closely to see its texture, but I feel certain it would be great sand for use in cement work.

How far the deposit extends back across his farm I do not know, but from surface appearances it may extend south to the Post Rd., and east well toward his house, 600 yards away.

When the contractors resurfacing and rebuilding part of the CCC Highway, between this city and to the B&O overhead crossing northeast of Mt. Sterling, wanted sand and gravel in large quantities, they cast about and found just what they wanted on Carl's farm. They removed large quantities of both sand and gravel.

The pits on the Bandy farm supply sand and gravel throughout that community, and apparently will continue to do so for years to come.

Years ago the state Highway Department removed much sand and gravel from a pit near the Bandy barn, but the pits opened later are at the extreme western edge of the farm. Part of the pit has been worked as near the line fence between the Bandy and the Bozo farms as possible.

I believe that this same deep deposit of sand and gravel under a large section of the Bozo farm land is mixed with large quantities of sand, which must come from beneath the present surface.

While hundreds of thousands of loads of sand and gravel have been removed from dozens of pits throughout the county, this storehouse of material has hardly been tapped. In most of the pits all sand and gravel was left below the water line.

When the big ice sheets moved in on this area, they certainly brought a huge supply of material, more than can be utilized for hundreds of years.

KNOW YOUR SINGLETREES!

Recently I discovered that some of my younger farmer friends and some others have never seen a singletree. They did not even know what I meant when I referred to singletrees.

Inasmuch as I will soon give you a story of an unsolved murder within a short distance of this city, in which the killer used a singletree in crushing the skull of the man he murdered, I will give you this information regarding singletrees.

Singletree is derived from the word "singletree." It also is known as a whiffletree or whiffletree.

The singletrees on buggies and carriages were formerly called whiffletrees. Those on the heavier vehicles were called singletrees.

The definition for singletree is: "The pivoted or swinging bar to which the traces (or tugs) of a harnessed horse are fixed—a whiffletree. When two horses draw abreast a singletree is fixed at each end of another crosspiece called a doubletree."

That defines singletree very nicely.

I might add that singletrees had clips on each end, with a hook for fastening to the traces, and a clip or clasp in the center to which the singletree was attached to a doubletree or the vehicle to be pulled by use of a clevis. When one horse was hitched to the vehicle, such as a plow, only the singletree was used.

A doubletree, for use in attaching singletrees, was fastened to the vehicle to be pulled by use of a heavy clevis in the center. The two singletrees were attached near each end of the doubletree by using smaller clevises and open rings or "lap rings."

Whiffletrees for buggies and carriages were made of wood and were much lighter than the 2½-inch thick, 30-inch long singletrees.

FINDS YOUNG HAWK

The day following the recent windstorm which swept through northern Fayette and lower Madison counties, Mrs. C. S. Marcy of the Cook - Yankeetown Rd. in Madison Twp., discovered a young hawk on her lawn.

The hawk appeared to be rather tame so Mrs. Marcy fed it hamburger and other meat to keep it alive until Fish and Game Protection or David Krupla could get it.

Monday Dave obtained the hawk, which he identified as a red-shouldered hawk, also known as a hen hawk or chicken hawk, one of the largest of the native hawks.

While the young hawk was of good size, it was unable to fly, so Dave will keep it and feed it until it is able to care for itself and then turn it loose.

Last year the redshouldered hawks had a nest in a woods near the Marcy home, but the whereabouts of the nest from which the young hawk came is still unknown.

When Mrs. Marcy fed the hawk, the bird tore them apart with its sharp talons and then devoured them. Meat and insects are the chief diet of the redshouldered hawks.

Conservation officers urge protection of hawks which exterminate large numbers of harmful rodents and do much more good than harm.

Chicago Police Radio Jammed with Spanish

CHICAGO (AP)—"Viva Zapata! Los amigos de Venezuela."

The park district police chief, George Otletis, reports that the radio signal in Spanish, which has drowned out the park police's radio reception from 9 to 10:30 a. m. every day for the last four months, will be silenced.

A new piece of equipment will stop the reception interference caused by sun spot activity.

"Either we get this silencer equipment or we get a translator," Otletis said. "But this can't go on—my men reply to commands with 'Viva Zapata!'"

Flying White Hunters' Kill Of Polar Bears Said Alarming

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
The way the summons came, you knew there was something big afoot, or in the air. And there was both.

Anyway, there was the swift invitation, the rise of an elevator a hundred stories or so to a cloudy air, an escort past a three-headed watchdog, and then the official of lofty responsibility who fixed you with a steely eye.

"Do you have any idea," he said, "how difficult things are getting for polar bears?"

It would be nice to say that of course you knew how tough things were. But the unvarnished truth is that the hapless writer had a hazy thought that polar bears are tough enough to take care of their own problems.

But such is not the case. Polar bears are in worse shape than a wet boot on a cold morning and all because they like to go to sea on ice floes.

That used to put them in a place of comparative safety, even though the guardians of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service can't protect them beyond the three-mile limit.

But that's where something in the air comes in, or rather goes out. White hunters have taken to flying out—sometimes as far as 200 miles from the Alaskan shores—to kill the big white bruins taking their ease on floating ice.

With use of the airplane, white hunters have increased their kill two or three times in the past five years, the federal agents say glumly. Because of the international geography involved, keeping track of the kill is about all they can do.

In about three months this spring, 127 bears were killed—more than two-thirds of them by white hunters.

Last year, the total for the available time was 206, but the bear population has been thinning out at an alarming rate. Just how alarming is hard to say, because the known biology of the animal is somewhat skimpy.

The Fish and Wildlife Service plans to find out more, though, and promptly, to determine what needs to be done. In other words, in the case of the big white bruin's problem, there is no disposition to grin and bear it.

Tribe Ends Losing String

BOSTON (AP)—The famine is over and maybe a feast will start. Anyway that's what the Cleveland Indians hoped today as they met the Boston Red Sox in the finale of a three-game set. The Tribe ended its four-game losing streak with a four-run burst in the 10th inning Wednesday, providing a 7-5 triumph.

Billy Harrell, who hit a two-run homer in the 10th, and Hoyt Wilhelm, the knuckleball relief artist, were the heroes for Cleveland.

Wilhelm, who came into the game in the sixth inning, pitched hitless ball until Ted Williams beat out an infield single in the 10th. Dick Hernert then smashed a home run above the left field wall, cutting Cleveland's apparently safe 7-3 margin by two runs.

Trailing 3-0 after five innings and headed for a fifth straight loss, the Indians nicked Boston's Frank Sullivan for a single run in the sixth frame.

Back-to-back doubles by Minnie Miñoso and Mickey Vernon scored one more in the seventh. When Rocky Colavito ripped a single to center, Vernon crossed to make the score 3-3.

The Red Sox had roughed up starter Ray Narleski, scoring three runs in four innings. A walk to Jimmy Piersall with the bases loaded brought in the first tally in the second. Frank Malzone's singles and Jackie Jensen's 10th homer added two more in the fourth inning.

The Indians launched their four-run spree in the 10th when Wilhelm, usually a weak hitter, singled to right field. After Chico Carrasquel popped out, shortstop Harrell belted his homer, his fifth of the season.

Dick Brown, Bobby Avila and Roger Maris followed with singles—all off loser Dick Sisler. Brown scored on Maris' single and Avila raced home when catcher Berberet muffed a throw.

Track Champs Awaiting Tests

HOUSTON, Tex (AP)—A galaxy of track stars featuring Glenn Davis, the world record equaler in the 440-yard dash, and the Bob by Morrow powered sprint combinations of Abilene Christian College will line up Saturday in the annual Meet of Champions.

Athletes from six major conferences and 28 states are entered in the meet sponsored by the University of Houston.

The Abilene Christian 440-yard relay team that bettered the world's record with 39.7 at the California Relays Saturday faces strong opposition from the University of Houston, which will bring three brilliant freshmen up to the varsity and run as the Houston Track and Field Club.

Morrow did 9.4 at Modesto in returning to the form that made him 1956 sprint champion of the Olympic Games. He is entered in both the 100 and 220.

Stan Levenson, Houston freshman who has done 20.5, will contest Morrow in the 220, while in the 100 the Abilene Christian star will get competition from Dee Givens of Oklahoma, Illinois' Bob Mitchell, the Big Ten sprint king, and Morrow's teammate Bill Woodhouse, who has beaten him twice this season.

Each of the 17 events is crowded with champions, including Oklahoma's brilliant miler Gail Hodgson of South Africa, Southern Methodist's high jumper Don Stewart, who has leaped 6-10½, and distance ace Jerry Smartt of Houston.

Davis, who recently tied the world's record in the 440 at 45.8, gets competition from George Keer of Illinois, who pushed him to the great time, DeLoss Dodds of Kansas State, Oklahoma's Gary Parr and Southern Methodist's John Emmett.

DAYTON (AP)—The 72-hole Ohio Open golf championship will be played Aug. 18-20 over the par 71 Madden Park golf course here,

3 Favorites Eyed In Dallas Open

DALLAS (AP)—Sam Snead, hoping to repeat; Ken Venturi, top-rated as usual, and Billy Maxwell, playing golf as torrid as the weather, were eyed today as the $25,000 Dallas Open swung into the 72-hole grind.

A field of close to 100 moves out over the 6,500-yard course with Snead, confident he would win his second Dallas open in a row, the No. 1 favorite. He had consecutive 3-under par 67 in his tuneup rounds.

Venturi also showed consistently fine golf and Maxwell had a blazing 64 in Wednesday's pro-amateur.

the Ohio Professional Golfers' Assn. reports.

The southern section of the Ohio PGA is in charge of the tournament this year and the host pro will be Tom Blackburn, University of Dayton basketball coach. The PGA said the championship field will be cut to the low 60 and ties after 36 holes of play.

Girl Barred From Junior Golf Tourney

COLUMBUS (AP)—Terry Hoiles' entry papers are in order, her 15 handicap vouches for, and her age is within the limits, but the Ohio Golf Assn. says the 13-year-old Alliance Country Club player can't compete in the state juniors tournament.

Says W. H. Margraf, secretary-treasurer of the association: "This one is strictly for the boys."

He estimates there will be about 80 of them at Ohio State University's Scarlet course Monday and Tuesday for the 36-hole medal play event. Entries are being accepted until 10:30 a. m. Monday.

Both divisions—Class A (16-19 years old) and Class B (15 years old or younger)—start the first 18 holes at 12:30 p. m. Monday. The second 18 is scheduled the next morning.

Among those expected to be in strong contention is Robert Black Jr. of Massillon, a member of the Purdue University varsity. He is the son of Robert Black, pro at Elms Country Club in Massillon. Young Bob, 19, tied Jackie Nicklaus of Upper Arlington for second in the tournament here two years ago.

Nicklaus, who led the Ohio area qualifiers for the National Open last Monday, is not expected to enter the junior tourney.

Another strong possibility is Jim Sims of Groveport, who won the Class B title last year. He moves up to Class A third year.

Things Looking Brighter for Dodger Outfit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Things haven't looked this good for the Los Angeles Dodgers in a long, long time. They've gained voter approval for the Chavez Ravine deal, Johnny Podres has jacked his four-game slump with a three-hit shutout AND those crowd-collecting Milwaukee Braves are coming to town.

The Dodgers are still in the cellar, but it's only a 4½-game spread to third place on Wednesday night's 3-0 job on Cincinnati. It was the first shutout of the year for Podres, who led the majors with six last season.

The Braves, again drawing a near-capacity crowd, moved into a one-game lead over second-place San Francisco by beating the Giants 10-9 in 11 innings. St. Louis whipped Pittsburgh 6-3 and gained a virtual tie for fourth place with Chicago. The Cubs bombed Philadelphia again 11-5 with Ernie Banks belting his 15th and 16th homers, high in the majors.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox beat New York 7-2. Second-place Kansas City beat Washington 5-4. Cleveland defeated Boston 7-5 in 10 and Baltimore clipped Detroit 6-4.

Charley Neal drove in two Dodger runs with a 420-foot triple to center and a solo homer that cleared the nearby left field screen at the foul pole. Podres, now 5-4, breezed, twice retiring 11 in a row and no-hitting the Redlegs over the last 4 1/3 innings. He struck out seven and walked two.

Johnny Klippstein (2-2) lost it. A pinch-hit single by pitcher Warren Spahn clinched it for the Braves off losing reliever Stu Miller (1-3). Down 7-1 after three, they tied it 7-1 in the ninth as Wes Covington belted a three-run homer on the first pitch from re-

Dodgers Hand Shutout to Redleg Crew

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There were two things the Los Angeles Dodgers had today that they didn't have Wednesday — (1) Chavez Ravine, or a portion thereof, and (2) their first victory over Cincinnati's Redlegs — a three-hit 3-0 shutout.

At the moment at least, perhaps point No. 2 loomed more definite and sweet: certainly, there was a feeling that with more of the likes of Johnny Podres' virtually airtight hurling, the Dodgers might eventually rise from the cellar.

Only Redleg hits of the night were singles by Johnny Temple, to open the game; by Don Hoak to open the second inning, and by Roy McMillan with two out in the fifth. Two more visitors walked and thus did Podres rack up the first shutout in 24 games in the Coliseum, and his fifth win against four defeats.

Until McMillan bounced his hard single over hill in the fifth, Podres retired 11 men in order. John Klippstein, in turn, found his season's record evened up at 2-2.

Klip lasted 2 2/3 innings — long enough to feed a booming triple to Carl Furillo to open the second, then with two down, another three-bagger to Charley Neal to score Furillo. Don Zimmer singled sharply through the middle to put his mates two-up.

Turk Lown succeeded Klip to the mound — and in the fourth watched as Neal lofted a homer over the left field screen just inside the foul pole. Tom Acker hurled the next three innings, getting two Dodgers on strikes and holding them hitless.

Charley Rabe came on in the eighth and Willard Schmidt relieved Rabe.

WCH Hoping To Hold Lead

Creamer Protesting Greenfield Contest

The Washington C. H. outfit in the Southwestern Ohio league will be trying to tighten its grip on first place during a full slate of league games Sunday—while league officials ponder a protest filed by Ray Creamer for the Milledgeville squad.

The Washington C. H. team meets Creamer's Milledgeville outfit at Jeffersonville. Chillicothe second in the league, plays at the Federal Reformatory, and stands a chance of moving back into the top spot if circumstances work out in their favor.

Creamer's protest, which will be taken up at a league meeting soon, will be decided by League President Max Wilson after consultation with league managers. The protest is based upon an alleged foul ball in last Sunday's Milledgeville - Greenfield game, and a supposed Greenfield ground rule.

Greenfield won the game, 10-4. Creamer claimed that a ball called foul after it bounced off a telephone pole in an early inning, was actually fair.

In other games on the coming Sunday's schedule, Greenfield plays at Bloomingburg and Mt. Sterling at Blanchester.

The Mt. Sterling outfit, holding up the bottom of the league, is still seeking its first win. Blanchester is in seventh place with a 1-3 record.

Bloomingburg, holding a 2-2 mark, stands a chance to move a long way up if they can beat Greenfield, holding a 2-1 record.

Milledgeville, the Washington C. H. opponent, also has a 2-2 record.

Circleville Driver Reins 2 Winners

LEBANON (AP)—Jimmy Liso of Circleville had a big night as a driver in the 22nd tri session at Lebanon Raceway Wednesday night. He handled two high-paying winners — one representing the first leg of the season's record daily double.

Liso piloted Worthy Venture to victory over the mile course in 2:11.2 in the first. The roan gelding paid her backers $53.80, $15.40 and $9.00. To those who favored Jerry Lambert in the second race, it was worth $11.80, $7.80 and $4.60. Worthy Venture and Jerry Lambert together paid $300.40, against a previous daily double high of $292.

Liso also won the eighth race, a 28 pace, behind Diploma, in 2:09, to pay backers $39.40, $11.80 and $6.20.

Lawsuits Still Pestering Dodgers in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Walter O'Malley is still erect after the latest effort to yank the Southern California welcome mat from under his Dodgers. But his equilibrium may be submitted to still further tests.

City voters decided in a referendum election Tuesday to let O'Malley build a luxurious new stadium for his ball club in Chavez Ravine, a mile from the heart of downtown.

Latest returns today show 176,605 votes for and 159,028 against. This is with 2,350 precincts of 4,519 reported. The trend is not expected to change.

The results mean O'Malley may get his athletes out of their makeshift playground at Memorial Coliseum sometime during the 1959 season—if.

If the chubby baseball impresario from Brooklyn can vault a few more hurdles.

There are several lawsuits on file now. They all challenge the legality of the deal permitting the Dodgers to set up shop in Chavez Ravine.

One of the suits was filed in nearby Pasadena on behalf of taxpayer Louis Kirschbaum. He already has obtained a temporary court order restraining the city from transferring its Chavez Ravine acreage to the ball club. Superior Judge Kenneth C. Newell now must grant or refuse an application for a temporary injunction.

Kirschbaum claims the land cannot be conveyed to the Dodgers because there was a deed restriction on it when it was acquired from the City Housing Authority. The restriction provided that the land be used only for public purposes.

City Atty. Roger Arnebaugh was asked to comment on the gravity of the situation.

"It is our considered judgment," he said, "that the contract is legal in all its aspects. But these lawsuits may well cause some delay in the ultimate completion of the project."

"The contract (with the Dodgers) says that in the event we are unable to get the restriction removed or modified the contract will be of no further force or effect. We recognized that the deed restriction would have to be modified. Steps will now be taken to of working it out with the Housing Authority. They have already indicated they are sympathetic to the proposal that the Dodgers play there, in that it is a quasipublic purpose in itself—for the benefit of all the public."

Stillings Pitches, Scores for Bray's

Terry Stillings, diminutive Bray's pitcher, gave the folks something to write home about Wednesday as he turned in a modified one-man show to beat the Gorton's outfit, 8-1 at Rossmann Park.

Stillings struck out 11, walked five, and gave up just one hit as he took the opposition into camp. He also connected for four hits — including a crucial double — and crossed the plate to two of his team's runs.

Stillings received a lot of help from Ben Garringer, his batter mate, who scored three times and had two hits. Mike Wilson got two more runs and Armbrust one.

Don Juillerat, Gorton's pitcher, a 13-year-old making his debut on the Babe Ruth mound, struck out one but walked only four. Mike Wright, a Little League graduate, got the only hit for his team.

Pair of Pitchers Yield Four Hits As Cowboys Win

Two superlative pitching performances, coupled with good play in the field, gave Little League fans an evening to remember as the Med-O-Pure Cowboys nosed out the Coca-Cola Jets in each team's first game of the season at Wilson Field Wednesday night.

It was an auspicious beginning for Mike Mallow, Cowboy hurler, who gave up just two hits and seven walks while striking out 16 men over the six-inning course. For Danny Park, Jet pitcher, about the only difference was that he didn't win — he struck out 11, gave up just four walks, and two hits.

Mike Wright scored the Cowboys' only run in the fourth inning when Don Lentz clubbed him home on a single. Wright got on with the Cowboys' only other hit.

NEW YORK (AP)—Agesless Gene Sarazen likes a three-way youth parlay in the National Open Golf Tournament next week — Arnold Palmer, Ken Venturi and Billy Casper.

$20 Million in Ohio Road Job Bids To Be Opened Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Highways will open bids June 24 for the first two federal projects designed to help relieve unemployment during the recession.

In all, bids will be opened for road projects worth about 20 million dollars, including the cost of right-of-way land. Major projects include two more sections of the North-South Freeway (Ohio 1) and another section of the Cincinnati-Dayton six-lane freeway, U. S. 25.

The recession projects call for widening and resurfacing more than 12 miles of U. S. 24 in Henry and Lucas counties, to be finished Aug. 31, and improving about one mile of U. S. 224, in Medina County, including a grade separation with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. That project is to be finished by Sept. 30.

The federal government will pay two-thirds of the cost of each project from money made available recently.

One Ohio 1 project is south of Ashtabula and includes a grade separation with the New York Central Railroad. It will cost about 4 million dollars and is to be finished Sept. 30, 1959.

The other is in Lake County south of Painesville and will cost about 6 million dollars, mainly because of the number of bridges involved. It is to be finished Oct. 31, 1959.

The six-lane project on U. S. 25 is southeast of Hamilton and will cost about 5½ million dollars before it is finished July 31, 1960. The department plans to place all of the Cincinnati-Dayton Freeway under contract this year.

After contracts are awarded for the June 24 bid-opening projects, the department will have placed projects totaling 175 million dollars under contract since the first of the year.

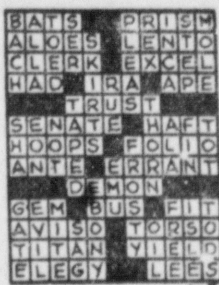

About one million dollars worth of resurfacing work will be offered in 24 projects in these counties: Allen, Putnam, Athens, Hocking, Coshocton, Fairfield, Hamilton, Holmes, Lawrence, Lorain, Madison, Union, Mahoning, Monroe and Morgan.

During July the department will open bids for 100 or more additional resurfacing projects. Other major projects for which bids will be opened June 24 include: Columbiana — Improving 3.3

FOP and FOPA In Joint Meeting

Betterment Program Discussed by Group

Most of Wednesday night's joint meeting of the Fraternal Order of Police and Fraternal Order of Police Associates was devoted to routine business and a review of the part the members of the two organizations played at the motor cycles races sponsored by the Silver Rocket Motorcycle Club at the Fairground here last Sunday.

Robert Jefferson, president of the FOPA, presided. Patrolman Herschel Taylor is president of the FOP.

Members of the two organizations — including officers of the county sheriff's department, city police department and the state Highway Patrol who were off duty — handled the tickets at the gate and traffic at the motorcycle races.

For their services the Silver Rocket Club agreed to give the two organizations a percentage of the proceeds for their community betterment fund.

JEFFERSON reported at the Wednesday night meeting that the club committee would not be in a position to make a settlement until all of its obligations are paid and that the FOP and FOPA will not receive its share until the club balances its books on the event.

Among the community betterment projects of the two organizations which have received public attention was the series of record hops for young people they sponsored last winter and early spring. The hops have been suspended during the summer, but probably will be resumed when the schools reopen in the fall, Jefferson said.

The FOPA president explained that "we like to keep up this community betterment fund so we will be in a position to undertake any worthwhile project that is brought to our attention."

Attendance at the meeting was not up to normal, the secretary's report showed, but Jefferson said "it was pretty good at that."

AAUW Dinner Is Next Monday

The annual dinner meeting of the American Assn. of University Women at 6:30 p. m. Monday in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church parish hall will be the last until September.

It also will be the last meeting at which Mrs. Colin C. Campbell will preside as president. Mrs. Frank Mayo, the president-elect, and other officers of the Washington C. H. branch of AAUW will begin their terms in July, although they will not be installed officially until the September meeting.

Robert Haigler, Fayette County farmer and traveler, will be the principal speaker of the after-dinner program. Mrs. Campbell said he had said that, in the course of his talk, he would relate some of his experiences and describe some of the places in Mexico he and Mrs. Haigler have visited.

Advance reservations, Mrs. Charles Pensyl said, indicate that about 40 of the 45 members of the branch here will be at the dinner.

PORTSMOUTH — William Potee, 61, charged in connection with his operation of a bingo game near Wheelerburg, was acquitted in Portsmouth Municipal Court Wednesday.

City Receives 5 Truck Bids

Three Vehicles To Be Replaced

Five local dealers have submitted bids on three new trucks which will replace equipment now operated by the City of Washington C. H.

Denton's International Truck Sales was the low bidder on all the new vehicles — two 2-ton cab and chassis models for the street department and a 1-ton dump body with hoist for use in the sewer department. The Denton bids were $1,902, $1,855 and $1,852 respectively, including trade-in of present trucks.

Other offers were received from Brandenburg's (Chevrolet), Halliday (Ford), Meriweather (Dodge) and Houseman (Studebaker).

Their bids were: Brandenburg's — $1,938.24, $1,912.98 and $1,888.24; Halliday — $1,988, $1,881 and $1,988; Meriweather — $2,000 on each; and Houseman — $2,075, $2,100 and $2,075. All include trade-ins.

CITY MANAGER James F. Parkinson said that he is studying the bids, with special consideration being given to the detailed specifications of the low bidders, and a comparison of horsepower and cubic displacement of engines.

"We are required by law to consider not only the lowest bids, but the best bids," Parkinson stated.

The city has not purchased any new trucks since 1954.

The city's fleet also includes two pickup models, which are in good condition and will not be replaced, the city manager said.

Eight Treated After Farm, Home Mishaps

An Anderson Rd. farmer fractured his right ankle about 3 p. m. Wednesday when he fell six feet from a skidding ladder to a barn floor.

In good condition at Memorial Hospital is Lewis Babb, 42, who was climbing from the haymow down to the floor when the mishap occurred.

One of eight people treated in the emergency room at the hospital Wednesday, he was the only one not released after treatment.

OTHER emergency patients included Wesley Ruth of New Holland who cut his hand on window glass, and David Martin, 427 Third St., who was treated after a piece of rock lodged in his eye.

Miss Mary Boggs of 415 W. Temple St., was treated for an ankle injury after she fell. Treated for a lip cut she sustained at the Washington Park swimming pool was Shirley Stevens of 319 N. Main St.

Jerry Mason, 20 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mason of Route 4, received attention after he spilled a pan of bleach and water on his face and hands. Treated for burns to her face and hands after she fell into a tub of hot bath water was Cynthia Ann Self, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Self Jr. of 622 E. Elm St.

Pamela Hyer, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hyer of 632 E. Market St. was treated for a forehead cut. The family car stopped short and she fell against the dashboard.

Relief Cases Increase Here

Investigator Added To Department Staff

Fayette County's Department of Welfare, up to the present time, is not in the unfortunate position of numerous other Ohio counties with reference to poor relief funds which, in many places in Ohio, have been exhausted.

Through careful investigation of all demands for relief in the office here, the relief funds have been carefully guarded and needy cases, where funds are necessary, are still being handled.

Reports from Wilmington, for example, shows that Clinton County's poor relief funds have been completely exhausted and 107 families and 27 single individuals did not receive their usual checks during last week.

The reason announced by the welfare director in Clinton County is that the number of recipients, compared with last year, doubled during the first quarter of this year and the cost jumped to above $50,000 as compared with approximately $24,500 for a like period last year.

The Fayette County office also reports that its appeals for help have greatly increased.

In order that all cases shall receive careful personal investigation, Miss Margaret Smith, who has been acting as clerk-stenographer in the welfare office here, has been advanced to the position of case worker to assist Mrs. Beryl Cockerill, county welfare director, in visiting and investigation cases where relief has been asked.

To assist with the office work in the department, Miss Jo Anna De Weese of Milledgeville, has been assigned to the position of clerk-stenographer.

Jeffersonville Community Auction Friday

JEFFERSONVILLE — Hundreds of items of new merchandise will be offered at auction on Main St. in Jeffersonville Friday night as a project of the village Community Betterment Assn. made up of members of the Lions Club and the Knights of Pythias Lodge.

Proceeds from the auction, which will begin at 9 p. m., will be used for such public improvements as playground equipment and for operation of the Teen Club.

Carl Stackhouse, general chairman, said approximately 150 merchants in Jeffersonville, Washington C. H., other parts of Fayette and surrounding counties have donated merchandise ranging from electrical appliances through feed and fertilizer, to small household items, cosmetics and dresses.

"It looks like a three- to four-hour auction," Stackhouse said.

Incorporation Being Considered For County TB and Health Assn.

Preliminary steps toward incorporation of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Assn., as a non-profit organization, were taken at the regular meeting of the directors of the association in its offices in the Pavey Building Wednesday evening.

Miss Dee Hawke, field counselor for the Ohio TB and Health Assn. was there and explained that the state organization is urging all Ohio county organizations to incorporate. Several are now in the process of doing it, she said.

Better and closer continuity in state-wide programs of the organization was given as one reason for this move. Also, it was pointed out that officers and members of local organizations are better protected in the event that any legal accident damage suit should be filed against a volunteer worker. In such case the organization as a whole only would face any legal action and only funds in its treasury would be jeopardized.

Omar Schwartz, the association's legal advisor, outlined details of procedure for incorporation which will require a general meeting of all contributing members to be held for a vote on the proposal.

A meeting was set for 7:30 p. m. Aug. 6 in the auditorium of The Dayton Power and Light Co.

Other matters of business before the association at Wednesday night's meeting were routine, including reports of committees and a review of the visits of local members to the Mt. Logan Sanatorium and of programs for patients there in which the Fayette County association is participating.
